THE GENERAL OBSERVANCE OF MEMORIAL DAY

FEATURES OF THE DAY IN NEW YORK

Minister Wu's Tribute to General Grant---Unveiling of Memorial Tablets In the Hall of Fame---An Address by Senator Depew.

New York, May 30.—Although there were threatening signs of rain throughout the early part of today, the Memorial day exercises in this city were carried out with more than the usual interest. The important events in the day's program were the military parade which was reviewed at Madison Square Garden by Governor Odell and Mayor Van Wyck, the exercises at Grant's tomb, where Wu Ting Fang made an address, and the dedication of the Hall of Fame at the New York university at which Senator Chauncey M. Depew delivered an oration.

The parade included the Old Guard, acting as an escort to Governor Odell several detachments of United States regulars, a number of militia organizations, a battalion of United States marines and all local posts of the G. A. R. In all there were about 15,000 men in line. A feature of the parade was the firing of a salute by the naval post opposite the statue of Farragut in Madison square.

At Grant's Tomb.

At Grant's tomb, Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister, in accordance with instructions given by Li Hung Chang some years ago, placed an offering of flowers on the stone coffin containing the general's remains. Mr. Wu also delivered an address in which he said:

Minister Wu graphically described the career of General Grant as citizen, soldier and statesman, his remarks showing a close study of his subject. "Nothing shows more clearly," he said, "the high estimation in which Grant was held by the world at large than the spontaneous outbursts of enthusiasm with which he was everywhere greeted when he made his famous tour around the world. Princes, potentates and the common people alike vied with one another in paying him the homage due to great rulers. Cities opened their gates to welcome him at his approach. His progress from country to country was like a triumphal procession. All this was a significant tribute to his character and his fame. It must be remembered that he was at this time only a private citizen, but everybody recognized the greatness inherent in the man.

"In no country, I dare say, did he receive a warmer welcome than in the old empire of China. The career of Grant is just such as is calculated to fire the imagination of the Chinese. 'Statesmen and generals do not come from exclusive stock,' is one of our favorite sayings. We Chinese have great admiration for men who have risen by their talents from humble beginnings to be acknowledged leaders of the people. Such was Grant."

Minister Wu then alluded to the friendship between General Grant and Li Hung Chang, and said:

"After Grant's death Earl Li gave instructions to the Chinese legation at Washington to bring every year, as is done this day, an offering of flowers to the general's tomb on Memorial day, as a token of his enduring friendship."

The Hall of Fame.

The ceremonies at the dedication of the Hall of Fame were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis. Senator Chauncey M. Depew then delivered the oration. He said:

There has been the broadest catholicity of judgment and no passions or prejudices of sectarians, parties or creeds among the judges. The action of the tribunal is a remarkable exhibit of the disappearance of the bitterness of the civil war. Though a large majority of the electors were from the north, General Lee is placed beside General Grant, and Lincoln received every vote from the south save one.

The gentlemen upon whom has devolved the first selection have found in the wide field open to their choice only 29 whom a majority thought fit to fill the panels of this hall. There may be disappointment and mortification that after [illegible] years of settlement in our country and [illegible] of natural life, the harvest should be so small. But our situation was unique and original. We were not a conquering people, absorbing and adopting the civilization, arts and accumulations of a subject nation.

If the Viking could come from his valhalla, the Areopagite from beneath the temples of Athens, the arbiter elegantiar from the ruins of Rome, the mediaeval knight from his armor, Frederick from Potsdam, or Napoleon from Invalides, to view these heroes, they would have only contempt for this development of democracy. The inventor of the application of steam to navigation, of the electric telegraph and of the cotton gin, the artisans who were in their time and in their world, the herded mass born to bear the burdens and work for the luxuries of their masters, are here crowned with the fadeless laurels which encircle the brows of the conquerors and rulers of the world.

The emancipation of labor has been followed by its recognition and the dignity of its function in human affairs; and now a pathway is open up the difficult ascent of Parnassus. The triumphs of industrial genius have created conditions by which millionaires live in comfort and hope, where thousands dwelt in poverty and despair. They have made possible gigantic fortunes, which are the wonder of our day. But the material revolution and its rich results which are thus emphasized have diverted the mind, culture and ambition of ingenious youth to paths of gain rather than fame, unless, under a new code, gain in large measure be fame. The dollar, or its eager pursuit weighs down the wings of genius and prevents its flight to the lofty heights where congregate the Homers and Shakespeares, Miltons and Byrons, the Michael Angelos and the Raphaels and their peers. Our time does not produce their equals.

We have now no Tennysons, nor Longfellows, nor Hawthornes, nor Emersons. Perhaps it is because our Michael Angelos are planning tunnels under rivers and through mountains for the connection of vast systems of railways and our Raphaels are devising some novel method for utilization of electrical power; our Shakespeares are forming gigantic combinations of corporate bodies, our Tennysons are giving rein to franchises and imagination in wild speculations in stocks and our Hawthornes and Emersons have abandoned the communings with and revelations of the spirit and soul which left their readers to a vision of the higher life and the joy of its inspiration to exploit mines and factories.

When this period of evolution is over and nations and communities have become adjusted to normal conditions, the fever and the passion of the race for quick wealth and enormous riches will be over. Then the grave, the academy and the study will again become tenanted with philosophers, poets, historians and the interpreters of God in man. Unless this shall happen, then let the luxuries and opportunities, evanescent earthly pleasures and the disappearance after death which comes from leadership in business, be the rewards of the successful; but reserve the temple of fame for those only whose deeds and thoughts are the inheritance, education, inspiration and aspiration of endless generations.

Following the oration Chancellor McCracken, of New York university in an address made formal dedication of the hall.

Every cemetery in Greater New York and surrounding towns and villages of New York state and New Jersey was visited by parties from G. A. R. posts and the graves of the dead veterans were strewn with flowers. At many of the burial grounds patriotic services were held.

Patriotic services under the auspices of the G. A. R. were held in the Metropolitan opera house tonight in observance of the day. Major General John R. Brooke presided.

NATURE COVERED THE GRAVES WITH WHITE

Special to the Gazette.

Leadville, May 30—The weather today was threatening and at the conclusion of the ceremonies a heavy snow storm broke over the city and tonight the ground is covered.

The principal feature of the day's observance was a long civic and military parade, participated in by 15 different organizations. The address at the cemetery was delivered by Hon. L. R. Thomas. The graves of the soldiers and pioneers were decorated by committees appointed for the purpose.

CHILDREN STREWED FLOWERS UPON WATER

Boston, May 30.—New England had a dull, cold Decoration day today and while it did not rain, it was almost damp enough for umbrellas. Activities were confined mainly to organizations for whom the day had special significance. Holiday makers kept indoors.

The principal event in Boston was the celebration at the navy yard, at which J. J. Myers, speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives, and Rev. A. E. Horton delivered addresses and several hundred school children strewed flowers upon the water, in memory of those who have perished at sea. This unique proceeding was in charge of Mrs. W. T. Sampson. Rear Admiral Sampson presided.

LABOR MEN AT A BANQUET IN DENVER

Denver, May 30.—There were no sessions of either the convention of the Federation of Western Miners of the Labor union today. The delegates attended the various memorial day celebrations and were entertained at a banquet at East Turner hall tonight. Roady Kenehan of Denver, national secretary of the Horseshoers union was toastmaster. The speakers included Lieut. Gov. David C. Coates of Colorado, President Daniel McDonald of the Western Labor union, Harvey E. Garman, president of the Colorado State Federation of Labor; State Labor Commissioner Smith of Colorado; Hon. Frank Pelitier and Hon. J. J. Quinn, members of the Montana legislature, District Judge Benjamin Lindsey of Denver, and Hon. Max Morris, member of the Colorado legislature and vice president of the American Federation of Labor. A feature of several of the speeches was the note of alarm at the danger of encroachments upon American labor by the unrestricted immigration of Chinese and Japanese.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT ROCKY FORD

Pueblo, Colo., May 30.—A special to the Chieftain from Rocky Ford describes a fire which destroyed a large frame building and damaged several others. The structure burned contained the printing office of the Rocky Ford Republican and a furniture and second hand store owned by Mayor West of Pueblo. The Vienna cafe in the same building was also burned out.

Editor Springer of the Republican, fainted during the fire and was carried out of the burning building.

The fine brick building of T. F. Gooding, Jr., occupied by the Dawley hardware and furniture store, and also the large dry goods store of Price and Lance, in which is located the telephone exchange, were on fire in several places and the goods were partially removed before the fire was got under control.

There was partial insurance on the Vienna restaurant and the furniture store.

THE PRESIDENT IN WASHINGTON

Train Arrived at the National Capital On Schedule Time--Mrs. McKinley Bore the Journey Well.

Washington, May 30.—The train bearing the president and Mrs. McKinley and the party accompanying them on the tour through the west ended its journey here at 7:30 o'clock this morning exactly on schedule time. Mrs. McKinley immediately was removed to the carriage in waiting and driven slowly to the White house. She looked pale and worn, the natural result of the grave ordeal through which she recently passed. Secretary Cortelyou stated that she was bearing up splendidly. "She passed a comfortable night," he said, "and is feeling better today. She shows a gradual improvement."

The president has planned to attend the Memorial day exercises at Arlington cemetery today in the event tht there is no change for the worse in Mrs. McKinley's condition.

No demonstration marked any portion of the early morning run of the presidential train toward Washington. A few people were gathered at points along the way but there were none but silent greetings in accord with the spirit that has prevailed among the crowds past whom the train has run since the start homeward last Saturday morning.

In this city several hundred people lined the sidewalks. A police cordon of a score or more men was early on the scene and stationed at intervals along both sides of the track reserved for the train. Owing to the early hour, perhaps, only a few officials were present. These included Second Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger, Major Pruden, assitant secretary to the president; Colonel Bingham, superintendent of public buildings and grounds. The train was run onto a track in the middle of Sixth street, just outside of the Pennsylvania station and the presidential carriage was drawn up alongside. The president's team of spirited horses shied at the noises about the depot and were almost unmanageable.

President McKinley was on the platform as the train rolled in and bowed to a few who lifted their hats in silent salute. Some delay was caused by the nervousness of the horses. Mrs. McKinley was removed from the private car Olympia to the carriage on a chair borne by the president and Dr. Rixey, assisted by several others. She was pale and showed her weakened condition. Several members of the cabinet stood alongside ready to lend a helping hand. Mrs. McKinley was slowly lifted into the carriage and made comfortable. Then to avoid the rough cobblestones of the streets, the crowd was cleared from the smooth stone sidewalk next to the depot, along which the carriage was slowly driven on the way to the White house.

The members of the cabinet and the others of the party entered their carriages and were driven home. Secretary Cortelyou, who has had the responsibility of the entire trip and has managed it so successfully, was early astir on the train and was the last to leave it.

It is probable that a meeting of the cabinet will be held tomorrow, Friday being a regular cabinet day. No meeting has been arranged for today.

The president's carraige, on arrival at the White house, stopped at the edge of the plaza, instead of being driven into the regular driveway. This was to avoid the steps at the driveway interfering with the lifting of the chair. An usher stood at the horses' heads as the president and Dr. Rixey, aided by attendants, carefully lifted Mrs. McKinley in a chair and carried her slowly into the White house and to her apartments. Breakfast was served there and later the president spent a few minutes in the cabinet room looking over a few important matters. Dr. Rixey remained for over an hour. "Mrs. McKinley is now resting very comfortably," said the doctor. "She is better today than when she left San Francisco. She is of course still very weak but in no immediate danger."

Besides Dr. Rixey, Surgeon General Sternberg and Dr. W. W. Johnson of this city also will attend the patient.

ROWBOAT SWEPT OVER DAM IN THE SCHUYLKILL

Philadelphia, May 30.—A rowboat containing a party of eight young persons was swept over Flat Rock dam in the Schuylkill river this afternoon and seven of them—five girls and two boys—were drowned.

The victims, all of whom were Philadelphians, were:

FLORENCE DENSMORE, 19.
MAZIE KENNEDY, 18.
MAUD RUTTER, 19.
MAMIE SULLIAN, 21.
FLORENCE BOND, 21.
ROY RICKER, 18.
BERTRAM OSMOND, 19.

The young man saved is John Moore, aged 21.

The party was composed of members of the Elm Social club. They, with a large number of others, most of whom reside in the southern section of the city, organized a picnic for today. They embarked in gaily decorated wagons early this morning and pitched their camp at Rose Glen, along the Schuylkill river, on the northern outskirts of this city. The party split up after dinner for a row on the river.

Heavy rains during the past week had made the muddy stream quite high and the current was much swifter than usual. However, the unfortunate party immediately struck out for midstream.

All the girls were huddled in the stern, one of the boys was rowing and another was sitting on the bow of the boat. After getting in the middle of the river and finding the current too swift for comfort, the boat was rowed in toward the shore. During this time it was carried slowly down stream. The boy doing the rowing decided to go through the locks and as he approached the dam he was warned by the lock-keeper not to approach any closer. The warning was not heeded, and the young oarsman kept on rowing until he found that the lock was closed. He attempted to turn the boat, which was then about 50 feet from the dam and 25 feet from the shore, but he turned the wrong way. A moment later and the boat was in the swiftly moving current. Realizing then, for the first time, that they were in danger, the girls began screaming and the oarsman lost control of the boat. Swiftly it was carried toward the brink of the falling waters and just as it reached the breast of the dam, over which 30 inches of water was passing, the entire eight stood up and the boat went over stern first.

The drop to the rocks below is about 12 feet. The boat struck the water bottom up and as it disappeared the whole party was under it. Nothing more was seen by the few persons who saw the accident for almost a minute when the boat reappeared with one boy clinging to its keel. Then another young man was seen to come to the surface and make a frantic effort to reach shore by swimming. The five girls never rose to the surface.

The boy who was swimming, and who proved to be Osmond, became exhausted and sank before he could be rescued.

Moore, the boy who was clinging to the boat, floated half a mile down the river and his rescuers had an exciting time before they landed him in another boat. He was greatly exhausted and was slightly injured by the falling of the boat. Up to a late hour tonight none of the victims had been recovered.

FRENCH MILITARY OFFICER ENTERTAINED IN BERLIN

Berlin, May 30.—To the correspondent of the Associated Press Gen. Bonnal, director of the French war school, expressed his delight at the splendid reception accorded the French officers by Emperor William and his army and at the interesting military sights witnessed. He said:

"I have been astonished at the perfectly frank and soldier-like manner and speech of the emperor. Repeatedly the emperor emphasized his gladness because the Germans and French fought shoulder to shoulder recently, not only in China but in West Africa, thus learning mutual esteem."

The emperor also said to Gen. Bonnal yesterday:

"When you return to France tell your countrymen that here, nothing is felt but sympathy and respect for France."

Regarding the German army, Gen. Bonnal said:

"Neither the German nor the French army is the same as in 1870. There have been great improvements in both. Yet both might learn much from the other."

Emperor William will confer upon Gen. Bonnal a high decoration. The French officer will witness the parades tomorrow and next day and will leave for Paris Sunday.

UNITED COPPER COMPANY

Pierre, S. D., May 30.—Articles of incorporation have been filed here for the United Copper company of Montana, with a capital of $50,000,000, one-half preferred and one-half common stock. Incorporators are Arthur P. Heinz, Stanley Gifford, Franklin Nien, Frederick Eckstein, Carl Swenson and Oscar Nelson.

GUESTS AT POTSDAM.

Potsdam, May 30. Queen Wilhelmina and Prince Henry arrived here today. They were received at the station by the emperor and empress of Germany who accompanied them to the new palace. The visitors were warmly cheered.

A CONFERENCE ON CUBAN RELATIONS

The President and His Advisers Must Determine Whether the Platt Amendment Has Been "Substantially" Adopted by the Convention.

Washington, May 30.—An important conference on Cuban relations took place at the White House this afternoon. There were present with President McKinley, Secretary Root, Senator O. H. Platt, chairman of the senate committee on relations with Cuba, and Senator Spooner of Wisconsin. For more than an hour and a half the situation in Cuba was considered and when the conference broke up no determination had been reached. It is expected that the whole matter will be brought before the cabinet tomorrow and possibly will be further discussed with those who have had much to do with shaping Cuban relations thus far.

Secretary Root has been fully advised by Governor General Wood regarding the progress of events in Cuba and has been informed of the action of the convention in its successive stages together with the final action of the convention in adopting the Platt amendment and the interpretation placed upon it by the convention as well as the interpretation of the interviews between the Cuban commissioners and the president and secretary of war. He was thus able to inform the president fully of the definite results of the convention in adopting the Platt amendment as amended or interpreted by the delegates. This information was the basis of the discussion during the conference today.

The president and his advisers must determine whether the Platt amendment has been "substantially" adopted by the convention. This is preliminary to the withdrawal of the United States authority and forces from the island. If it should be found that the interpretation of the convention is not satisfactory to the government, quite a difficult problem arises as it seems to be the intention of the Cubans to proceed to form a government and that government must be recognized or rejected by the president, as he has full power to determine whether the act of congress has been complied with by the convention.

Another problem which has been discussed by those interested in Cuban affairs relates as to what would follow should the new Cuban government be recognized. The Cuban government, it is asserted, will be for some time without the machinery to execute its own laws and put in operation its own edicts. It is held by some lawyers that the moment the Cuban government is recognized the authority of the United States ceases and there is some question as to who would be responsible for the preservation of law and order as the new government would have no troops and no police force and would be practically powerless should there be any opposition to its decrees and orders. The question whether United States forces would be warranted in upholding the government in executing its orders has been raised; also whether the president of the United States would be authorized as commander-in-chief of the army to give orders to our troops further than their recall from foreign territory.

Before the Cuban convention acted these subjects were under consideration to some extent, but as a new government is in process of formation, with the Platt amendment adopted with certain reservations, they become vitally interesting. That the president and secretary of war regard the whole Cuban problem a serious one was shown in the consultation today with the senators who were largely responsible for the legislation.

An impression gained currency that the Philippine situation and the effect upon it of the supreme court decisions was the object of the conference today but this was denied by those who participated in it. The complete opinions of the court have not been read and considered with the care necessary to arrive at any fruitful results as to their bearing upon the Philippines.

CONFERENCE OF UNION MINERS

Important Meeting Called by Western Federation to Meet in Victor Tonight.

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, May 30.—It has just leaked out that the Western Federation of Miners has issued a call for a meeting of all the individual miners unions in the Cripple Creek district to meet at Victor Miners Union hall tomorrow (Friday) night. It is understood that the representative from Denver will attend the meeting, and it is supposed that the trouble with the Portland company will be the main topic of discussion.

MRS. M'KINLEY STILL VERY SERIOUSLY ILL

Washington, May 30.—Mrs. McKinley had a fairly comfortable day but still feels the effect of the fatigue incident to the long trip from San Francisco to Washington. The physicians hope, now that she is again safely abed in the White house, that the slight improvement that has manifested itself since leaving San Francisco will be continued, and that she may be able to sit up. She is still very seriously ill and her every symptom is being carefully watched by those having charge of the distinguished patient.

Dr. Rixey, the physician in charge of her case, spent some time at the bedside of the patient today. Associated with him in a consulting capacity are also Surgeon General Sternberg of the army and Dr. W. W. Johnston of this city.

The president spent most of the day at the White house in the company of his wife. Late in the afternoon in company with Secretary Root he went out for a short drive, taking a ride in the suburbs, but he returned to the White house in about an hour.

JUSTICE BREWER TO MARRY SCHOOL TEACHER

Washington, May 30.—Announcement has been made of the engagement of Associate Justice David Brewer of the United States supreme court and Miss Emma Miner Mott, a well known school teacher of this city. The wedding will take place next week at Burlington, Vt., where the nearest relatives of Miss Mott reside. Miss Mott is principal of the Morse school. Justice Brewer is a widower.

SENATOR M'LAURIN THINKS TILLMAN NEEDS QUIET

Charleston, S. C., May 30.—Senator John L. McLaurin issued an address to the people of the state from his home in Bennettsville today. He opens by saying that the recent address to the people by Senator Tillman makes it necessary that he should say something in explanation of his motives and actions and that "had it not been for Senator Tillman's intrusion upon the Gaffney meeting there would have been no necessity for it. A joint debate was precipated by him contrary to my wishes and of the gentlemen who invited me."

He continues:

"It is too late now to consider whether it was wise or unwise and the people must judge between us. I desire to announce my candidacy in opposition to the senior senator for the unexpired long term and I will discuss with him in a fair and reputable manner the national issues of the day and leave it to you to judge who can more honestly and honorably represent you in the United States senate. In 1897 I was elected to the senate as a Democrat and I am still a Democrat."

Senator McLaurin says that his recent Greenville speech gave the people his reason for his official actions since 1899 but that the address of Senator Tillman makes it necessary for him to say he is a Democrat and continues:

"The senior senator charges that I am a Republican and that I was organizing a Republican party here. If he believes this charge why did he consent to run with me in a Democratic primary? I denounce the charge as an infamous falsehood and the senior senator knows what he says is untrue. He charges that the dispensing of the public patronage has been placed at my disposal and that unlimited money is furnished me 'by Republicans to aid in the success of a new party.' I denounce this as a malicious falsehood.

"The people shall judge of our Democracy and not the senior senator. The senior senator is addicted to making reckless and false charges against others which he never substantiates. An honest man is always chary in charging others with dishonesty; the thief often cries 'stop thief.' He is an ambitious boss and habitual disturber of the political peace and harmony of South Carolina."

Senator McLaurin closes as follows:

"Fellow-citizens there will not be anything like unity or quiet among our people until he is relegated to private life. His incendiary appeals to class hatred and prejudice such as he made at Gaffney to factory operatives, and his dictatorial spirit and utterances will keep up dissensions and discord in the state. With the aid of the people I will make a heroic effort to break down bossism, with its train of political evils and invite all good citizens to assist me to inaugurate an era of free thought, free speech and independence of action in South Carolina. The senior senator in the quietude of a farmer's life in Edgefield county could be viewed as a pitchforkless pigmy and a blessing to the state."

PARADE OF CONFEDERATE VETERANS IN MEMPHIS

Memphis, Tenn., May 30.—The closing day of the United Confederate Veterans union was devoted to the grand parade of the old soldiers. All business having been completed yesterday, a number of veterans returned to their homes on the night trains, but thousands remained to once again touch elbows and keep step with their comrades of the battlefields. About 5,000 were in line. During the early hours of the morning, a heavy rain swept the streets clean and tempered the atmosphere here, but by 9 o'clock the sun came out bright and clear and gave promise of an ideal day for the parade. The parade started from Confederate hall, marching to "Dixie."

At the head of the column rode General George W. Gordon, chief marshal of the day, and his staff. Then came General John B. Gordon and Assistant General George Moorman. Then a carriage containing the general headquarters sponsor and maids of honor, and two more carriages, bearing inscriptions:

"Southern Memoirs—The Women We Present as They Were Forty Years Ago."

Next came carriages in which were the sponsor and maids of honor of the department of northern Virginia, comprising the divisions of Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina and West Virginia.

The Transmississippi department came next with the old soldiers of the divisions of Missouri, Texas, Arkansas, Indian territory, Oklahoma and the Pacific coast.

The largest of three departments, that of the Army of the Tennessee, was the next in line, comprising the divisions of Kentucky, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee and the colored division of veterans.

The two divisions of Forest's cavalry corps with a carriage bearing the corps and maids of honor terminated the line of veterans and preceded the Sons of Veterans.

A long line of miscellaneous carriages ended the parade.

THE NATIONAL WOMAN SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION

Minneapolis, Minn., May 30. The 33d annual convention of the National Woman Suffrage association opened here today with a very large attendance of delegates, all of the national officers except Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch, of Chicago, being present. The convention was called to order by the president, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt.

Matters of routine business having been disposed of, Mrs. Catt rose to present the honorary president, Susan B. Anthony, who at this convention for the first time gave over the reins of control of the convention to another.

A cordial welcome was extended to the woman suffrage convention at the First Baptist church by Governor Van Sant, Mayor Ames and others.

The meeting tonight was the first public evening meeting of the convention and the church was crowded.

Rev. Anna Shaw was to have had an opponent in a debate on the suffrage question but according to the statement made by the president of the association no one could be secured to answer the challenge of Miss Shaw so she was obliged to argue with an imaginary foe.

NEWS NOTES FROM DENVER

Memorial Day More Generally Observed Than for Years Past

THE WEATHER WAS IDEAL

Two Conventions Took a Holiday and Three Elected Officers—State Stenographers Will Banquet.

Denver Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette

Denver, May 30.—Memorial day was more generally observed in Denver today than it has been before for years. Business was practically suspended and seemingly nearly every one in the city went [illegible]. The day was ideal, the sun [illegible] clear and warm, but as the morning advanced clouds [illegible] over the mountains and they [illegible] with a cool breeze which blew the entire day, made marching not only comfortable but pleasant. The early morning trolley cars [illegible] to the [illegible] resorts, but the majority of the people preferred to remain in the city and either participate in or witness the impressive services [illegible] day. The services began at 9 o'clock at the capitol grounds, when the school children gathered there and presented each soldier with a wreath to carry during the parade and later to lay upon the grave of some campaign comrade. The children also planted [illegible] the flag pole in the capitol grounds in memory of the younger boys who sailed for Luzon. The parade was one of the longest that ever passed before a reviewing stand [illegible] Memorial day. There were not as many [illegible] as have often been seen before, but the [illegible] that did move through the streets had nearly every military organization in the city [illegible]. As the parade moved out of the capitol grounds in Broadway over 3,000 school children carpeted the street with flowers for the veterans to walk on. This was one of the most impressive scenes of the day and many of the men were seen to wipe away the tears as they acknowledged this tribute. A reviewing stand had been erected at the federal building and the city officers reviewed the marching column from that point. The line of march was short but it was crowded with spectators. As soon as the parade disbanded cars were secured and the crowds left the city for the various cemeteries. Commemorative exercises were held in the Army and Navy [illegible] to [illegible]. Rev. George Bedell Vosburgh delivered the principal address. Those who did not go to the cemeteries spent the day at some of the pleasure resorts near the city.

Three Conventions

The two labor conventions which have been in session in this city recognized the national holiday and spent their time in visiting different points of interest throughout the city and state. A few of their committees spent the day working in order that they could [illegible] morning and thus not delay the regular transaction of business.

The railroad accountants elected officers for the ensuing year, selected [illegible] as their next place of meeting and adjourned. The officers elected are: President, H. C. Whit[illegible], [illegible] with the Santa Fe railroad; first vice president, S. B. Bond, with the Chicago & Great Western; second vice president, J. W. Rennu, with the Penn [illegible]; [illegible] secretary and treasurer. The following executive committee was elected: A. D. Parker, with the Colorado & Southern; H. A. Dunn, of Sa[illegible]; [illegible] of the Texas & Pacific; Frank M[illegible], of the Minneapolis & St. Louis. Tomorrow the delegates will be taken for a trip over the state.

The International Order of Twelve completed their work this morning and adjourned [illegible] electing the following officers: International chief [illegible], [illegible] Moses Dickson; international deputy and [illegible] district grand [illegible], William [illegible]; district grand [illegible], Mrs. Martha W[illegible]; [illegible] district grand [illegible], Mrs. Lizzie Matthews; international grand deputy, Mrs. C. H. Walker of Colorado, and Mrs. Emma [illegible]. Public [illegible] held in the Shorter chapel tonight.

The [illegible] Association of Hotel and [illegible] elected the following officers: President, Richard Crookes, Cripple Creek; first vice president, Robert Adams, Colorado Springs; second vice president, Benjamin [illegible], Victor; third vice president, [illegible], Cripple Creek; secretary and treasurer, J. B. Armstrong, Denver.

[illegible] State Stenographers association will hold its first annual banquet and convention in this city on the evening of June [illegible]. The [illegible] trolley ride over the city for the benefit of the visiting members of the profession. As the association is the only one of its kind [illegible] of Kansas City it is expected that the attendance will be large, but arrangements [illegible] to accommodate all comers.

[illegible] Carterry has been appointed [illegible] of the police department [illegible] discharged [illegible] that Captain Phillips was [illegible].

It is said that the Denver and Rio Grande is contemplating erecting a large freight depot in Denver during the summer. The capacity of the present [illegible] is far below what is required for the freight that is handled in the city.

It is reported that some difficulty has [illegible] between W. T. Parks, the principal of the Modern School of Business, and his [illegible]. The latter, it is said, will withdraw and start a business school in the same building. F. J. Barnes will have charge of the shorthand department and D. C. Ahlers will take care of the commercial branch. The school will be known as the Colorado Business college.

H. T. Clark, the man who was known as Captain Kelly in the western division of Coxey's army, has been sentenced to the county jail for 30 days for vagrancy.

The Colorado Maternity and Children's hospital at 17th and Thirty-second street was opened yesterday. The buildings are entirely new and liberal [illegible] have been received to insure the success of the undertaking.

Peter J. Barclay, an old resident of Colorado and well known in mining and political circles, died at his home in Del Norte yesterday [illegible]. He came to Colorado in 1868. He was superintendent of construction on the Federal building in this city. He leaves a widow and one daughter. Mr. Barclay was receiver of the United States land office at Del Norte when he died.

Superintendent [illegible] of the [illegible] at Salida, who was injured by a blast in the mine [illegible] days ago, died at the [illegible] hospital in Salida last night. He leaves a wife, three daughters and two sons.

A special from Lake City says: A strike [illegible] in the Leslie mine in the Henson Creek district today. At a depth of 400 feet the vein was cut showing a [illegible] streak of [illegible] lead [illegible] through a cross cut tunnel at a distance of [illegible] feet, and is 17 feet. The strike [illegible] another mill for this section.

Mrs. [illegible] Griffith White, a bride of but six weeks, [illegible] her husband [illegible] arrested on the charge of attempting to poison her. Mrs. White was the wife of Officer Griffith, who was shot by Llewellyn August 13, 1898. White strenuously denies the charge. He claims that his wife is [illegible] unbalanced.

Attorney General Post has returned from Washington, where he has been looking up the facts in the Colorado-Kansas water suit. He says that it will take [illegible] to prepare for the case.

Ballinger and Richards have completed the new city directory. It contains 650 names more than did the directory of 1900. This would show Denver's population to be over [illegible].

The Florida Razorback

The Florida razorback is the hog indigenous to this climate and soil. He is [illegible] large of limb and fleet of foot, being the only known porker that can [illegible]. He has a tail of wondrous [illegible] which, while he is in action, [illegible] into the tightest cork screw, but with which [illegible] quietly [illegible] the same manner as the docile cow uses her tail. He is [illegible] hunting his own living, and thrives equally well in the big woods, in the [illegible] hammocks and in the [illegible]. He [illegible] a [illegible] far seeing eye and is very [illegible]. Nature has equipped him with a snout almost as long as the beak of the wild pelican of Borneo, with which he can penetrate the earth many inches in quest of worms, snakes and insects. He is the most intelligent of all the hogs and is [illegible] the most courageous. He has been known to engage in mortal combat with a coon for the possession of a watermelon and to [illegible] barbed wire fence.

He is so intelligent that when he lives in the towns he becomes familiar with the railroad schedules more than the train dispatchers themselves and [illegible] his vocation in great numbers about the railroad stations, and yet no train ever ran over a razorback. When the railroad company [illegible] to pay for [illegible] hog it always proves to be a Berkshire, Guinea, or some other fine breed—never a razorback. He is too active and alert to be caught even by a locomotive. He is nervous, restless, energetic and hence does not thrive well in pens. Confined, he [illegible] rather than [illegible]. He is always ripe for market, as his condition is as good in August as it is in January. His owner expects his intelligence and [illegible] of [illegible] as food [illegible] may always be depended upon to afford the proverbial streak of lean with a very small streak of fat. He is the king of hogs. He can be grown more profitably than any other known variety [illegible] has been observed he is [illegible] and intelligent enough to feed and clothe himself.—From Forest and Stream.

If people only knew what we know about Kodol Dyspepsia Cure it would be used in nearly every household, as there are few people who do not suffer from a feeling of fullness after eating, belching, flatulence, sour stomach or waterbrash caused by indigestion or dyspepsia. A preparation such as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which, with no aid from the stomach, will digest your food, certainly can't help but do you good. Henry Arcularius and C. F. Smith, 117 S. Tejon st.

Theories About Food

Also A Few Facts on the Same Subject

We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetarianism and many other fads along the same line.

Restaurants may be found in the large cities where no meat, pastry or coffee is served and the food crank is in his glory, and arguments and theories galore are advanced to prove that meat was never intended for human stomachs, and most make us believe that our stalwart ancestors who lived four score years in robust health on roast beef, pork and mutton must have been grossly ignorant of the laws of health.

Our forefathers had other things to do than formulate theories about the food they ate. A warm welcome was extended to any kind from bacon to acorns.

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of diet, and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best.

As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the most nutriment in a highly concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables and grains.

Dr. J[illegible] Ber[illegible] on this subject says: Nervous persons, people run down in health and of low vitality should eat meat and plenty of it. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be easily corrected by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after dinner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three hours, and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if a regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they supply the pepsin and diastase necessary to perfect digestion, and every form of indigestion will be overcome by their use.

That large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its proper digestion by the daily use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, composed of the natural digestive principles, pepsin, diastase, fruit acids and salts, which actually perform the work of digestion. Cheap cathartic medicines masquerading under the name of dyspepsia cures are useless for indigestion, as they have absolutely no effect upon the actual digestion of food.

Dyspepsia in all its many forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food, and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the dyspepsia is to make daily use at meal time of a preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is endorsed by the [illegible] and known to contain active digestive principles.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50c for full treatment.

THE NEWS OF CRIPPLE CREEK

Memorial Services Were Held in the Opera House

BUSINESS WAS SUSPENDED

Preliminary Arrangements Completed for the Elks' Street Fair and Flower Parade in July

Cripple Creek Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette

Cripple Creek, May 30.—The Memorial day exercises in this city were marred by rain and muddy streets. Heavy overhanging clouds refused to permit the sun to appear and instead caused numerous showers to greatly dampen the ardor of the citizens. The grand parade which was to have moved at 10 o'clock was of necessity abandoned. Hundreds of people, however, lined the sidewalks under umbrellas and waited in doorways in the hope that the weather would clear. At the last moment the Grand Opera house was secured and beautiful memorial services held. Mayor Crane presided at the hall, which was crowded to the doors with patriotic citizens. After a benediction, filled with patriotic thoughts, speeches were made by J. Maurice Finn and Robert Graham. Both gentlemen were very eloquent and their patriotic utterances caused many outbursts of enthusiasm on the part of the large audience. The exercises occupied about two hours, after which the veterans of J. W. Anderson post, G. A. R., veterans of the Spanish American war, Co. H, N. G. C., the Elks, other civic organizations and the Cripple Creek Drum corps marched to Mt. Pisgah cemetery. The school children and Ladies of the G. A. R. had previously filled the arms of the soldiers and veterans with flowers and at the cemetery the graves were once again made green. The drum corps sounded taps over the dead and a salute was fired by the militia, after which the return to the city was made.

Business was practically suspended in the city and many parties of picnickers braved the elements to take to the hills to spend the day. Many others went to Colorado Springs to witness the ball games. A small party of excursionists from Colorado Springs arrived in the city this morning over the Short Line. The weather this afternoon [illegible] and they enjoyed the time spent in the district.

The preliminary arrangements have been nearly completed for the Elks' street fair and flower parade to be held in this city July 15 to 20 inclusive, during the session of the Transmississippi Commercial congress. Manager Oppenheimer and his assistants will open headquarters in this city Monday in the building occupied as the Transmississippi headquarters. Unlike other events of this kind, the fair will be self-supporting in every respect and no subscriptions will be solicited. Mrs. G. W. Whelan [illegible] superintend the flower parade, which gives promise of being a big affair in itself.

Jacob H. Edwards, a teamster, 21 years of age, residing at Elkton, died today of typhoid fever. Deceased was a single man and leaves a sister living at Elkton. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from Lampman's undertaking parlors.

Out of town arrivals at the National hotel today were: A. H. Moffet of Larned, Kan.; E. L. Redding, [illegible]; B[illegible]; H. W. Clark and F. K. Atkins of Denver; W. F. Lewis, A. C. Ridg[illegible] and George W. Dunkin of Colorado Springs; Mrs. LeRoy Todd of New York city and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Littlejohn of Fannel City, Ills.

NEWS NOTES FROM VICTOR

A Miner at Gold Coin Beheaded by the Cage

A TAILOR'S STOCK BURNED

Mr. McKenzie and His Assistant Escaped Through a Second Story Window—Memorial Day

Victor Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette

Victor, May 30.—Frank M. Hunt, a miner [illegible] years of age, employed at the Gold Coin mine, met a horrible death in the shaft of that property shortly before noon today. The unfortunate man was struck by the rapidly moving cage and beheaded. The accident was as peculiar as it was shocking, and Coroner Dunn will hold an inquest over the remains Friday morning at 10 o'clock to investigate. It is stated that Hunt was at work repairing a pump in the 1[illegible] foot level of the mine and near the shaft when he slipped from his position and fell, his head hanging over the shaft. The rapidly descending cage struck his head, severing it from his body. Coroner Dunn was at once notified and removed the remains to the morgue. The deceased was a resident of Goldfield and leaves a wife and two children, a girl [illegible] years of age and a boy 11 years of age. The remains will be shipped to Fredonia, Kan., tomorrow afternoon, where the burial will take place. A brother of the deceased and the widow and children will accompany the remains.

[illegible] civil war at Sunnyside cemetery were appropriately decorated today. Victor post G. A. R. and the veterans of the Spanish American war, headed by the Gold Coin band and followed by many citizens, wended their way to the cemetery shortly before noon. Soldiers and citizens alike carried huge bouquets and baskets of flowers and placed them upon the graves. Rev. Mr. Powell delivered an appropriate oration. The veterans of the Spanish American war took a prominent part in the exercises and greatly assisted the G. A. R. veterans in their noble work.

This afternoon fire completely destroyed the stock of goods in the tailor shop of D. McKenzie on the second floor of the building on North Fourth street and the F. & C. C. tracks. Mr. McKenzie and an employe of the shop had a narrow escape from the flames. They dropped from the second story window to the sidewalk below and fortunately escaped uninjured. The fire started in a peculiar way. A pair of trousers were being cleaned with gasoline in the shop. It appears that the owner had struck matches on the trousers while wearing them and in doing so fragments of the matches had stuck to them. When the tailor rubbed the trousers these fragments ignited and set fire to the gasoline. The room was at once ablaze and the two men were [illegible] from escape through the door by the flames. They took to the window and escaped as stated above. The fire department kept the flames confined to the one room, the damage to the building being about $200. Mr. McKenzie's loss is estimated at $500.

NEWS NOTES FROM PUEBLO

Threatening Weather Did Not Prevent Memorial Service

VIOLATOR OF THE GAME LAW

Fred Klantschy Sentenced to 90 Days in Jail at Canon City—Another Letter From Mrs. Berger

Pueblo Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette

Pueblo, May 30.—[illegible] threatening weather Memorial exercises were carried out in Pueblo today as planned. This morning delegations from the posts of the city, accompanied by members of the [illegible], repaired to the three cemeteries, Northside, Riverview and Mountain View. The impressive Memorial day service of the G. A. R. was held, volleys were fired over the graves, taps sounded and the mounds decorated with beautiful flowers. The National guard furnished the [illegible] the Mountain View; the Sons of Veterans for the Northside and the veterans of the Spanish American war for Riverview. The young veterans [illegible] over the grave of Captain John S. Stewart, who was killed in the Philippines. This evening at Board of Trade hall a short program was carried out, the feature of which was a splendid Memorial day address by Rev. A. A. Hoskins, pastor of the Unity church.

Game Warden Fred B. Orman yesterday arrested Fred Klantschy at [illegible] on a charge of violating the game law. It is said that the man is an old offender and for several years has been killing mountain sheep. He was taken to Canon City, where a justice of the peace sentenced him to ninety days in jail.

The Chieftain has received another letter from Mrs. Mertl M. Berger, the school teacher whose disappearance last April caused so much comment. She is still in San Francisco. She says that she understands suspicion has fallen on different parties on account of her disappearance, and she makes a statement to the effect that absolutely nobody knew of her intention of going away. She reiterates her previous statement that her departure was due to a nervous strain. She says she went to Denver when she left Pueblo and bought her ticket for California in that city. The handwriting of the letter corresponds with that of the first one received.

[illegible]bert Re[illegible], the C. & S. engineer [illegible] has been arrested in Denver on a charge of burglary. [illegible] known in this city [illegible] considerable money.

John Connolly is under arrest on the charge of stealing tools belonging to the Iron City Mfg. Co.

FLORENCE

Special to the Gazette.

Florence, May [illegible].—The machine shops being built here by the Oil Well Supply company will be built, equipped and in running order before the end of the week. All the machinery is installed excepting the steam hammer, which is expected to arrive in a day or so. It is thought that finished tools will be turned out in a month's time.

The Florence and Colorado Springs Oil company is still fishing for the tools which were buried in the hole about a week ago. It is thought that work will be resumed before the end of the week.

After a short suspension of work caused by another freeze up, the Rocky Mountain smelter is again working. Last month there were 3,000 pounds of lime rock used at these works for fluxing purposes, but it is estimated that when the plant is in full blast it will easily consume 100 tons per day, and to handle this amount it will be necessary for the employment of 40 men and 20 teams. The quarry from which the rock is obtained is [illegible] miles north of the city and it is said to have no superior for fluxing purposes in the state.

B. R. Lockwell will sever his connection as superintendent of the Florence and Cripple Creek railroad on June 1, and will be succeeded by J. H. Waters of Cripple Creek, superintendent of the Midland Terminal. The latter will also continue in charge of the Terminal, but his quarters will be at Canon City.

Mr. R. Woodward, chief dispatcher, has also resigned his position, the same to take effect at once. His family has left for the east and he will follow in about ten days.

The old Uniform Rank of the Knights of Pythias is being reorganized, and with the addition of a few more members it will have a [illegible] membership of about 40. A. J. Harris has been elected captain. The rank, when thoroughly organized, will hold practice drill preparatory to entering the contest at the state meeting of the grand encampment at Victor next August.

Coal Creek is badly scared over the spread of diphtheria among the Italians in the southern part of the town. There are two [illegible] on duty now and one death is reported.

The success of the cement plant at Portland, five miles east of here, has been so gratifying, both for its excellent quality and the ready demand for the product, that it has encouraged other prospecting along this line. The result is that three separate parties have been looking over the ground with reference to building plants along the Beaver creek. One of these has reached a definite conclusion and an organization is in process of construction [illegible] $20,000 worth of land, being practically all the cement land between the mouth of the Beaver and Hardscrabble. They propose building a plant of 1,000 barrels capacity and the location will likely be on the north side of the river about one mile east of the present cement works at Portland.

The company which is projecting the movement is exceptionally strong and reliable. Adam Moore, who [illegible] the plant at Portland, is actively in this. Among those interested are Claus Spreckels, the sugar king of California; Mr. Leonard, president of the sugar beet factory at Rocky Ford; J. J. Burns, superintendent of the Rio Grande at Pueblo; C. W. Kelso of Beaver; James A. McCandless, M. B. Lay, W. H. Doyle, George Columbia and others of Florence.

The Florence Elmo Mining company has resumed work on its mine southwest of Buena Vista after a short shut down during the winter. The property was secured last fall, but too late to prepare for work during the winter. The mine will be opened at once and put in shipping condition. The principal values of the ore are lead and silver, which runs in value from $[illegible] to $[illegible] per ton. The officers and stockholders of the company are all Florence people and they believe that their proposition will soon be developed into a [illegible].

The Keystone Oil company is building its first rig about one mile southeast of the Weaver well. It is thought that it will be completed in about 10 days and that the drill will be spudded in in about two weeks. The [illegible] is [illegible] but it is not decided who will do the tool dressing.

When the Keystone, Fremont and [illegible] Oil companies begin drilling there will be about 13 strings of tools drilling in the Florence field. With these additions and the many more strings that the present operating companies will have going down this summer, the outlook for the oil business of the future is very bright.

The Florence Oil company has about concluded that the best oil field is south of the river and consequently has taken down its derricks over on the north side of the river.

It is reported that the [illegible] Oil & Gas company has taken a lease on the Weaver & Co. oil territory three miles south of the city. This is the ground upon which the big well is located.

A meeting of the directors of the Fremont people was held in the office of the secretary last night. A new cable and [illegible] has been taken out to the grounds and the drill will be going [illegible] and the work will be pushed vigorously.

Decoration day in Florence was fittingly observed and in a manner which reflected credit on the old soldiers.

The Post, all Confederate soldiers and soldiers who fought in the last two wars, the Ladies' Relief corps and Circle formed in line at the city hall at 9:30 this morning and marched to the Presbyterian church, where the mayor, the city council and the Ministerial alliance met, and at the chapel a program appropriate to the memory of the dead was rendered.

After the rendition of the program the church was vacated and carriages conveyed the attendance to Highland cemetery, where the firing squad fired a volley over the dead comrades, after which the exercises were held and the [illegible] decorated the graves of their dead.

McMillan Will Build Home Here

Another prominent family of the east is to be permanently represented in Colorado Springs. Mr. J. H. McMillan, formerly of Detroit, Mich., son of United States Senator McMillan of Michigan, has decided to remain here permanently and has bought one of the handsomest home sites in Colorado Springs.

The property is that formerly owned by Mr. D. V. Donaldson, located at the corner of Cascade avenue and Caramillo street, and has a frontage of 200 feet on Cascade by 190 on Caramillo. The consideration in the deal was $12,000.

Mr. McMillan and his wife and family have been spending the winter here and only recently decided to make this city their permanent home. Negotiations for the purchase of an attractive homesite were begun by Mr. McMillan and through the agency of Perry, DeB. Wills and company the property described above was sold to Mr. McMillan on Wednesday.

It is the intention of Mr. McMillan to erect on this site a handsome residence at some future time, work to be started probably next fall. The home will be a valuable addition to the residence district of the north end. Just what will be its cost has not been definitely decided, as plans are as yet uncertain, but it will involve the expenditure of not less than $1 ,000 and it is likely that it will considerably exceed this sum. The property will be improved at once with trees and shrubs.

It is the acquisition of such families as that of Mr. McMillan that has given the city of Colorado Springs the world wide reputation that it enjoys of being a city where the finest people of the country ... all seasons live and find enjoyment in living.

Wills and company closed up last week the deal by which Col. H. P. Illinge secures the corner of Platte and Cascade avenues upon which he is to erect his handsome bachelor apartment house, announcement of which has already been made at some length in these columns. The consideration involved in this deal was $1 .

Dedication of Ivywild School

It became necessary to make some changes in the program for the dedication of the Ivywild school yesterday afternoon, but the exercises were very successful notwithstanding the inclement condition of the weather. The High school students did not take part in the exercises as arranged, owing to the muddy condition of the streets and sidewalks, but the Jr. O. U. A. M. and the G. A. R. went out to the school at 2:30 and took part in the exercises.

Judge Morris was to have delivered the dedication address, but was indisposed and could not be at the school. In his absence Miss Renick, principal of the new school, and Superintendent Dietrich made a few remarks appropriate to the occasion. Mr. Dietrich spoke on the general function of public schools and his talk was an excellent one. A program was rendered consisting of flag drills and declamations ... girls ... declaimed were drilled by Miss Farr, and showed the effects of her training wonderfully. Rev. W. W. Moore pronounced the benediction, thus closing the exercises.

Despite the bad day and the rain a number of the patrons of the school went out to the building to witness the dedication ceremony. The exercises were very complete and while the rain interfered in a measure with the success of the program it was satisfactory to all who attended.

PROF. RIDDELL SPOKE TO GOOD AUDIENCE

In spite of the persistent opposition of the weather prophet a good sized audience assembled in the Christian church to hear Prof. Riddell lecture on "Why God Made a Devil." The lecture was clean cut, able and interesting throughout.

"Eternal progress," said the speaker, "is the one great central truth about which all others revolve ... the one great ... running through all nature ... supreme command that includes all others and ... This law is ... It ... from every blazing sun and twinkling star ... mirrored in every tranquil sea and shimmering wave. It is expressed in every bursting bud ... in every unfolding life and living soul. It is the ... On this ... of eternal progress I shall ... answer to the question of the ages, What is sin and why did it come into the world?"

From this proposition the speaker traced the law of eternal progress through all nature and showed when man failed to obey this law he became a sinner. Man was destined from his origin to become a free moral agent. If God had prevented Adam from doing wrong he would have destroyed his free moral agency. The effects of sin were discussed, the origin of a personal devil, the law governing man's atonement and the symbolic significance of the Garden of Eden.

Tonight Prof. Riddell will give one of his most popular and entertaining lectures on "Love Sparks and Matches, or the Science of Soul Harmony," in Wellock.

ORGAN RECITAL OCCURS TONIGHT

At the First Congregational church tonight occurs the first of the two organ recitals by Dr. Miner C. Baldwin, the eminent organist of New York city. One of the numbers of the program is an original tone picture by Dr. Baldwin entitled "The Storm in the Mountains." Miss Enola Calvin, the popular young violinist of this city, will play Wieniawski's "Legende," Schubert's Serenade and Musin's Mazurka. The entire program is given below. The price of admission has been placed at 50 cents. The concert is under the auspices of the Men's club of the church and the proceeds are to be added to the piano fund.

CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR.

Dandruff, Which Is a Germ Disease—Kill the Germ

Falling hair is caused by dandruff, which is a germ disease. The germ in burrowing into the root of the hair, where it destroys the vitality of the hair, causing the hair to fall out, digs up the cuticle in little scales called dandruff or scurf. You can't stop the falling hair without curing the dandruff, and you can't cure the dandruff without killing the dandruff germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. Herpicide is also a delightful hair dressing.

A Book to Read

The Bowen-Merril Company have a way of picking "winners" in late books. Their last great novel was "Alice of Old Vincennes," which has been the most popular book every month for a half year. The one before that was "When Knighthood Was In Flower," by Charles Major.

Their big book for the present year is "Like Another Helen," by George Horton. It bids fair to break previous records. Our last shipment was 50 copies. It sells at $1.50.

We are headquarters for late books.

Hundreds of Colorado Springs Citizens Can Tell You All About It

Home endorsement, the public expression of Colorado Springs people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Colorado Springs reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors cheerfully given by them will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in far away places. Read the following:

Mr. M. J. White of ... Valley street, retired farmer, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me of terrible distress from backache and difficulty with the kidney secretions. I could hardly turn in bed and the too frequent action of the secretions was very annoying. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Jones & Wellington's drug store, 109 Tejon street, and took them according to directions. I felt better in a short time and was finally cured."

THE NEW MAINE

IT WAS peculiarly appropriate that on Decoration day should take place the launching of the bigger better and more modern namesake of the battleship that was sunk by treachery in the harbor of Havana. The battle cry of the war against Spain was Remember the Maine. It was something more than a cry of revenge. The broken spars that protruded from the waters of Havana harbor were a monument of cruelty rather than the sign of national injury. The crime against the Maine was a glare in which the American people read and appreciated as they had never done before all the story of cruelty oppression and wrong against the hapless Cubans. We had no hatred against Spain or the Spaniards and war was never fought with less personal hatred between the combatants. But the American people determined that the wreckers of the Maine should no longer be permitted to dispose of the lives of our neighbors and in that stern resolve the war was fought to its conclusion.

No name is more fitting for an American battleship than that of the one that sank in Havana harbor three years ago. The new Maine is a monument of a war nobly purposed and grandly successful. It is the promise of justice and liberty for the future. The nation that set the Cubans free may be trusted to deal in honor and strength with friends and foes abroad as well as with those dependent peoples that are committed to our keeping.

THE EFFECT OF THE OIL STRIKES

SCARCELY a day passes but there comes news of the opening of another gusher in the Texas oil field. Within the past week new wells have been opened at Sour Lake 20 miles northwest of Beaumont and at Terre Bonne La 200 miles east of Beaumont and only 40 miles from New Orleans.

Enough has been developed to make it sure that an oil deposit of immense area and incalculable productiveness has been discovered. Already people are wondering what is to be the effect of these discoveries which already constitute one of the most sensational additions to our mineral resources that this country has ever received.

It seems probable for one thing that the Texas oil field will break the monopoly of the great corporation that has controlled the oil industry of the country for many years. An oil field of 250 miles or more in diameter capable so far as we know, of producing gushing wells every few hundred feet is not something that can be monopolized by any corporation however powerful or aggressive.

Another result that is practically certain is a wonderful growth of industrial activity in the states bordering upon this region. Such a supply of cheap fuel as is here uncovered is not known to exist elsewhere in the world, and the conditions of modern industry are such as to make its use a foregone conclusion. Texas Louisiana and other southern states having an abundance of cheap cotton and other raw material and already possessing cheap labor on the ground can hardly fail to become the scene of very great manufacturing activity. Such a rapid increase of manufacturing in the south as seems probable as a result of these oil discoveries will not be wholly an unmixed blessing and it will involve startling changes in industrial conditions throughout the country. If it should prove that cotton goods and other products can be manufactured near this oil field cheaper than they can be in other parts of the country it will give the United States another notable advantage in the struggle for the world's trade that is now in progress.

The political and social changes that may result from this oil discovery afford an interesting field for speculation. That they will be beneficial to the section and to the nation scarcely admits of a doubt. Texas and Louisiana as manufacturing states densely settled and busily industrious will be a new phase in the national life and one that will add greatly to the national greatness and wealth.

A VICTORY FOR THE PEOPLE

THE MORE the supreme court decision is studied the more evident it becomes that it is a victory for popular government and the more absurd is the talk of "imperialism" in this connection.

There has never been any dispute about the right of this country to annex territory by treaty duly ratified by the senate. It has been done repeatedly and it is probable that it will be done many times in the future. But the ratification of a treaty requires only the consent of the senate and the popular branch of congress has no voice ordinarily in the matter. But the Democratic claim has been that upon such action by one branch of congress the territory so annexed became immediately an integral part of the United States entitled without further action to all the rights and privileges of the United States. The contention has been that the people of Puerto Rico and the Philippines should pay the same internal revenue taxes that they should be governed by the same tariff laws as the people of New York or Colorado that all exports from those islands to the United States or from the United States to the islands should be duty free and that their people should have free access at any time to the United States and upon their arrival in any state should have the same rights of citizenship as are given to an immigrant from any territory or state of the union.

The Democrats certainly did not want these things to happen and they surely believed that they would be an injury to the nation but they were so anxious to prove that the Republicans had made a grave mistake in annexing Puerto Rico and the Philippines that they supported a theory that was contrary to all their previous professions.

Fortunately for them as well as for the rest of the country the supreme court decided the other way. It declared that the consent of the senate was not sufficient to incorporate savage races and distant islands as integral parts of the union and to give them equal rights with organized territories and states. It declared that annexation was only the first step towards nationalization and that congress might wait for years, as it did in the case of Alaska before recognizing the new territory as an organized territory of the United States. It declared that before admitting any new partners into the union the consent of the people of the United States acting through their representatives in congress as well as through the representatives of the states in the senate must be obtained and that the people of the United States acting through congress had the right to impose upon their wards such government as was best for all concerned subject only to such guarantees of free government as are the common heritage of mankind according to civilized usage.

What then is the imperialism that is so vigorously denounced by the opponents of President McKinley?

It is that the American people have been declared to have the right through their freely elected representatives to assume such responsibilities towards other peoples as they may see fit to undertake or may be thrust upon them by the course of events without sacrificing their own interests or endangering their own national existence and safety.

It is that congress the agent of the people may delegate to the president a limited authority for a limited time in dealing with the wards of the nation.

The American people are too wise to be deceived by such bugaboos as this one. If imperialism is something evil then this is not imperialism. If the decision of the supreme court has committed us to imperialism then imperialism is something to be desired and welcomed by the American people.

THE UNITED STATES AND THE KIOWAS

THERE was a hopeful suggestiveness in the title of Mrs Jackson's famous book which led one to believe that treaty breaking with the American Indians was to be confined to the nineteenth century.

This confidence we cannot preserve if the truth is being told regarding the opening by congress of the Kiowa lands in Oklahoma.

The facts relating to the matter are thus told by one of the Washington correspondents:

> In 1868 the Kiowas signed a solemn treaty with the United States government at Medicine Lodge Kan by means of which they agreed to surrender their large possessions in Kansas in exchange for a tract of 3 000 000 acres in what is now southwestern Oklahoma. They were guaranteed eternal possession of this tract the United States agreeing that they should never be dispossessed unless three-fourths of all the male adult members of the tribe should sign a treaty of cession. The title which they acquired was as good as any title in the United States—had the certificate of the United States government and a most valuable consideration was given for it. The Indians have greatly improved their property and have always rested secure in their belief that the advancing tide of white settlement could not displace them that they were secure against the raids of the boomers land hungry settlers and grasping railroad corporations.
>
> But last winter congress was induced to pass a law opening two of these three million acres to settlement. The bill was smuggled through. No information about it was afforded in either house and probably not a dozen men in either branch knew what they were voting upon. The bill to ratify an alleged treaty with the Kiowas did not even appear in congress under its proper title but was put as a rider upon a bill to ratify a treaty with another tribe for acquisition of lands at Fort Hall Idaho. The alleged treaty with the Kiowas which congress was by this adroit method induced to ratify purports to have been made in 1892 eight years before its ratification. In 18[illegible] some of the Indians were induced to sign a document of that character by means of false representations and garbled translations. But the secretary of the interior and the commissioner of Indian affairs both declare that the necessary three quarters of the adult members of the tribe never signed.
> Although this alleged treaty was ratified by congress last winter the Indians did not learn of it until a short time ago and they took measures to protect their rights. They had filed a protest signed by [illegible] out of the 6[illegible]9 members of the tribe. Chief Lone Wolf White Buffalo (head man) Ka-Koy-Taudle and Delos Lone Wolf the last named acting as interpreter have been in Washington for some time and will return home at once to secure further action of their tribesmen in defense of their interests.

The simple fact that such a protest has been signed by the Indians is sufficient evidence that there is some misunderstanding about the matter if nothing worse and it is entirely proper that the opening of the reservation should be delayed at least until the real facts are made known.

A THOUSAND YEARS BACK

WHEN the project of celebrating the millennial anniversary of the death of King Alfred was inaugurated it was expected to be the chief [illegible] of interest in England in the present year. The death of Queen Victoria and the war in South Africa have made it impossible to carry out the original plans for the celebration but the millennial will be observed appropriately.

The National Home Reading Union of England which corresponds to our original Chautauqua will hold its summer assembly at Winchester from June 2[illegible] to 29. Each afternoon the assembly will be devoted to a visit to the places and monuments associated with the great king's fame as well as to the exploration of the memorials of mediaeval times with which the district abounds such for example as the cathedral Wolvesey castle Hyde abbey the College of St Mary of Winchester founded it is said to provide clergy to supply the place of those who perished of the Black Death and the wonderfully interesting hospital of St Cross with its ancient and beautiful cruciform church and its gate house where the wayfarer's dole of bread and beer is still given to strangers who ask for it. Athelney Alfred's retreat and fortress during the evil days when his kingdom was overrun by the Danes and the scene of the famous incident of the cakes and Wantage where the Danes [illegible] on White Horse hill the defeat which changed the destinies of England will also be visited.

King Alfred was one of the few monarchs who really deserved the title of "the great" and Americans may properly join with Englishmen in paying honor to his memory and testifying to the benefits derived from his accomplishments.

As usual Walter Wellman knew what he was talking about when he foretold the supreme court decision.

FROM THE PRESS OF THE NATION.

A Tenderfoot.

(Lincoln State Journal.)

Mr Bryan in his Commoner calls attention to the rascals on Wall street who cornered the market for their own selfish purposes beat down the price of one stock and boomed the price of another stock and thereby spread ruin broadcast over the land. Then he asks: How will the historian describe an age in which a petty thief is severely punished while great criminals go unwhipped?

Nothing can be more foolish and futile than Mr Bryan's attempt to create sympathy for the disasters to the shorts on that Thursday before last. Nobody wanted to corner the market for Northern Pacific stocks. A certain number of capitalists who were interested in Union Pacific stock wanted to buy a controlling interest in the Northern Pacific and so they went in and bought the stock in open market as fast as they could. The men who had the control of the stock and wanted to keep the property soon were up to the movement and they bought stock also to fortify their hold on the property.

Then sundry speculators seeing the stock actively circulating began to calculate that it was too high already and thought they would make money by selling it short to the people who were buying. Their offers were eagerly accepted and when the day for delivery came about they could not get any stock for love or money to deliver.

Who stole anything from these men? The men who had contracted for the stock wanted it and were badly disappointed when the sellers failed to deliver—that was all there was in this "booming of the price of another stock." Now the fellows who beat down the price of one stock were these same foolish speculators who had sold Northern Pacific short and found themselves in a hole. In order to get out they had to market on the spot all the property they had on hand and this was other stocks. Dumping them wholesale on the market did beat down the price for one day. That was all.

We will suppose a case for the enlightenment of Mr Bryan. Suppose that the Commoner would be a good property if he turned it into a daily and not having capital enough by himself he formed a joint stock company and induced his friends to take shares. The property giving promise of being a very profitable investment if the editor was changed some one of a [illegible] gentleman [illegible] to buy the stock of Mr Bryan's friends and get enough of it to control the paper. Mr Bryan hearing of the rapid sales of his stock at an advanced price becomes naturally uneasy and he enters the market to buy in the stock of those who did not care to keep it. The rival buyers cause a very sharp advance in the price of Commoner stock and then some nice innocent unsophisticated people who thought that the price was artificial and couldn't possibly keep up should approach Mr Bryan with an offer of so many shares at the highest price and he supposing that they had the stock [illegible] it accepted the offer only to find that the fellows who had offered to sell it to him and had taken his money couldn't deliver it.

And then if the newspaper owner of the [illegible] should come out with a [illegible] charging Mr Bryan with cornering stock and ruining a whole lot of nice folks who had been selling it right and left without having any of it to deliver and make that unpleasant remark about petty thieves getting severely punished in this degenerate age while great criminals go unwhipped what sort of a deal would Mr Bryan think they were giving him adding insult to injury in this way?

The Awful Reality of the Chinese Executions

Suddenly a feeling of expectant [illegible] took possession of me. I was in the front rank but six feet from the mat perhaps the blood would reach my shoes or spatter my feet. I was glad when the soldiers hammered the line back another yard with their leveled guns pressed to our breasts. As the mob was fretting and fuming under the restraint a rapid murmur fixed our attention. Those behind us raised on their toes or tried to climb over those in front. Here he comes. The crowd at one end was burst asunder and a great strong elderly man tall and burly with gray hair and mustache was literally run forward by six assistants dressed in gray and wearing red tassels in their hats. He was staring at the horrible group and at the mat with a look of awful terror shrinking back on the pack of relentless men. For an instant he almost struggled then was borne forward to the mat where he knelt and was immediately stripped to the waist.

It did not matter what his crime. I had a rush of pity for this hapless wretch the victim of ignorance and racial isolation and the dreaded survival of medieval prejudice suffering as he was the death he had decreed for gentler better informed men of [illegible] benighted country. I wanted to turn away. I would have given a lot to have it stopped yet I stood as calmly as if it were a mere show and watched the rope knotted about his face saw them lay him out full length face downward his hands held behind his back cruel fists buried in the soft flesh of his shoulders the head caged in the rope and pulled by the blood-bespattered ghoul and I saw the chopper rise saw it flash downward cut clean through the neck and heard that awful thud of the steel on human flesh and bone and then I watched the head as one fascinated. It moved. Once twice it moved of its own volition by the muscles of its neck. For a fleeting moment there was intelligence in that bodiless head. It was the last flicker of the candle of life. Then the head lay still—still as the ghastly trunk weltering in a pool of reeking gore.

Everything was [illegible]. Officers [illegible] were a part of this struggling [illegible] multitude. It looked around the fearful thing on the ground breaking past the rifles in a rush to see the next. I lost my place in the front. I was in the fourth [illegible] and over shoulders. This time the man was tall but gaunt and haggard. [illegible] the crowd cried as they saw [illegible] re. Truly he seemed past all comprehension of what was happening. Then I lost sight of him. The crowd surged and its breath came in quick panting sobs. I could sometimes see the red tassel of an assistant's hat then I saw the chopper gleam and heard the sickening thud and the shout from the crowd. Chi Hsin first. I afterward Hsu Cheng Yi had given up their heads in obedience to the imperial decree. Part of China's atonement to the world had passed into history.—Sidney Adamson in Leslie's Weekly.

To You

God made the rose time of the year the June
Of realized bud and blossoming fulfilled
Over all the land His fragrance He spilled
And taught each bird a newer gladder tune
He heaped upon the earth the radiant boon
Of roses [illegible] till each sad corner thrilled
With fragrance and all its woes were stilled
Then over all He set the jewel moon
And flashed the silver stars across the sky
So all the gracious glory of the year
Created He and knowing it must die
And earth again must know dark days and drear
He fashioned it a symbol and there grew
Beneath His fingers the dear form of you

THE EXERCISES AT EVERGREEN

Grand Army and Kindred Orders Carried Out Program as Planned.

The prospects for the G. A. R. exercises at Evergreen cemetery were not very bright yesterday morning, but at about 9 o'clock the rain stopped for a short time and the exercises were carried out as planned.

The different patriotic organizations met at the G. A. R. hall on the corner of Huerfano and Cascade at 1:30 and shortly after that time the parade was formed to march to the train which the Colorado & Southern railway ran to the cemetery. The order of the parade was as follows:

Grand Army Drum Corps
G. A. R.
Company D, N. G. C.
Women's Relief Corps
Veterans of the Spanish War
Sons of Veterans

The train started from the site of the old Colorado & Southern depot and consisted of four coaches. While waiting for the train the drum corps played and [illegible] and Company D went through a number of fancy drill movements in the manual of arms.

When the train arrived at the cemetery the parade was formed again and marched through the cemetery to the [illegible] plot of the Grand Army. The organizations formed [illegible] the colors were [illegible] and proceeded with the ceremonies. Post Commander D. C. Work and A. S. Holbrook read the ritual and the latter offered a prayer. The ceremonies were very impressive. After the services a firing squad from Company D saluted the dead and out of the [illegible] from the last round came the [illegible] deep pathetic notes of taps. The silence as the last note died away in the distant hills was broken by Mr. Holbrook as he offered a prayer of thanksgiving.

Judge Kerr made an address which was replete with patriotism and feeling. Judge Kerr said that after the [illegible] which had just been heard [illegible] were very weak. The following is his address:

Yet once more, Oh ye Laurels —
[illegible]

Again from every quarter of the ceaseless flood of years has America come to Memorial day and to the feet of the lowly graves that shelter our dead. And once again the republic stands with bowed head above the dust of those who freely offered their lives in her defense in order that she might live.

Other lands and other times have lavished their honors on their great [illegible] generals and chieftains and kings who deserved ill or well of their country and their fellow men. It remained for America alone to honor the common soldier and to treat general and private alike as comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Napoleon, that [illegible] beast of [illegible] who squandered the lives of men as the wind scatters the sands of the desert, lies in kingly state under the dome of the Invalides, the hero and idol of France, but the corpses of the three millions of men whom he sacrificed to his insatiable ambition were left to rot like so much carrion on the fields of battle where they fell.

Wellington after being crowned with all the honors that his queen could bestow [illegible] his life was borne in majesty to death amid a nation's mourning. Westminster abbey, where England gathers up her great [illegible] his triumphs and [illegible] lofty ode, but after Waterloo contractors and speculators collected the heralded and embalmed in the [illegible] the bones of the British [illegible] who held the thin red line that could be destroyed but could neither be bent nor broken and carried them across the Straits of Dover to be sold like so much manure on English fields and meadows to enrich her [illegible].

But America gathered from a hundred battlefields the sacred dead of her titanic struggle for nationality and human rights and has placed them with loving hands in national cemeteries where their graves and memories may be kept green, or has sent them home to their friends by roaring [illegible] quiet villages where their dust [illegible] with that of their kindred, not to coax her soil to produce more [illegible] more wheat or more wine, but to enrich her soul so that the harvest shall be more loyalty and more liberty, more patriotism and more honor.

And now for more than 30 years we have decked these graves of our dead [illegible] the graves [illegible] nights alone, but of the poorest private as well as the greatest general. In the halls of kings death and in the Grand Army of the Republic we are all comrades and equal. And today from sea to sea the humble grave of [illegible] who wore the blue is a temple dedicated to liberty, where the weary pilgrims worn and gray of the Grand Army of the Republic shall once again worship and scatter flowers [illegible] and other pilgrims like myself shall [illegible] poor wreaths of words that will wither all too soon. But surely [illegible] your hearts be troubled [illegible] that though flower and speech fail [illegible] passing cloud the [illegible] annals that Memorial day and its memories will not be forgotten till the republic shall be no more, and after the last of the Grand Army have gone to join their comrades Memorial day will be remembered, for since Sparta taught her children to repeat from memory the names of those who fell with Leonidas no such beautiful custom as Memorial day has obtained among the sons of men.

And who shall measure its influence in instilling into the hearts of the young love of country and reverence for those who offered up their lives in her defense and in keeping alive the heroic memories of the past. And what [illegible] the day [illegible]. To the sixty millions in this country who were born since Appomattox it is but [illegible] pathetic custom that brings to mind a great epoch in the history of their nation, but to those who saw it all and were a part of it it makes the dead past live again and brings back memories as lurid as Dante's Inferno, the hells of slavery and war, and [illegible] as priceless as a gospel—the gospel of liberty and peace.

Memories of long years of [illegible] it seems as if God Himself could not forgive until we had trod the winepress of His wrath. Millions of years of private slaves and [illegible] worship, for which we were all to blame, north as well as south, of parents torn from their children and children from their parents, manacled and thrown into holds reeking with filth and pestilence, and when pursued by men of war, if caught, thrown to the sharks if [illegible] sold into slavery. Degrading, polluting years for both master and slave, when men and women because they were white lived in ease and luxury on the sweat of other men's brows because they were black. Bitter years of contest in the senate when Webster and Seward and Sumner and Wade were fighting the battle of ideas and Garrison and Phillips and Beecher and Whittier were preaching a new crusade and John Brown was dying on the scaffold. Then the awful years when the sword was drawn and the scabbard thrown away, when the foundations of the republic rocked in the earthquake of civil war, three millions of men in the field, battles every day, the flower of the young manhood of the nation destroyed, the south ruined and billowed with graves, then Appomattox and the death of Lincoln, then peace and after the roar of battle the mourning for the dead.

Let your imagination feed on these facts and you will understand something of what Memorial day means to the Grand Army. First a dirge for the dead, the republic like Rachel weeping for her children, because they were not, then a bolder note throbbed through the chords and it became a song of triumph for a land disenthralled, renewed, redeemed and started on a new and grander mission, and now again the minor key and it becomes a threnody for the Grand Army fast passing to join their comrades.

But be of good cheer. It was your [illegible] privilege to free the slave and redeem the nation and to bequeath to your children the best government on earth, united once more, for our ancient foe has become our loyal friend and there is no section of the country more patriotic than the south and no comrades closer than the blue and gray. And we can see now after the passions of war have cooled that the north was as much to blame for the introduction of slavery as the south, that in the nature of things the contest was inevitable, that each side bore its part well and that all are satisfied with the result and on Memorial day each side strews its flowers on the graves of the other.

But there are new dangers and duties before us. In the sweep of events, whether we wished it or not, the small homogeneous republic that fringed the Atlantic in the time of the fathers has become a mighty nation. We have taken Hawaii and through the Spanish war Puerto Rico and the Philippines and have freed Cuba. We have now under our control black men, brown men and yellow men. How shall we [illegible] them? [illegible] them as some of us claim, the [illegible] its implies obligation and we are bound to treat them with wisdom, tact and skill and above all with the highest conscience in the spirit of the brotherhood of man and as we deal with them may God deal with us.

And in this the Grand Army must play its part. Your comrades, the present is theirs at the head of affairs and is heading [illegible] no [illegible] to bear [illegible] skill and ability unsurpassed.

Your work is not yet done. It is not [illegible].

Keep the knightly [illegible] and [illegible] of your youth and carry them to your graves. You started out determined that [illegible] holy flag you followed [illegible] should float over none but freemen, and you succeeded. [illegible] the [illegible] that all men are created free and equal [illegible] It is a lie still. But it is a [illegible] better than the truth because it is an ideal [illegible] the political star of Bethlehem that the wise men saw in the East. The star that [illegible] follow [illegible] the knights of old followed the holy grail. And it will lead us at last to the [illegible] stall and the manger where in [illegible] swaddling clothes [illegible] Christ [illegible] the Christ of human brotherhood.

After Judge Kerr's address the Sons of Veterans and old soldiers decorated the graves of the soldiers who have gone before. The veterans of the Spanish war assisted in this work. Among the latter was Paul [illegible]. He is a manly looking young soldier and a glance at his face shows the same spirit of bravery which sent him to the top of the wall of Peking on that memorable day when the Stars and Stripes were first flung to the breeze there.

After the return to the city refreshments were served to the members of Company D, the old soldiers and the drum corps by the Ladies' Relief corps in the G. A. R. hall. The day was a memorable one. The drum corps contributed largely to the impressiveness of the exercises and the dirge which they played with muffled drums upon entering the cemetery went to the hearts of everyone present. The G. A. R. wishes to thank all those who helped in the ceremonies and to extend to them its best wishes.

THE DAY IN SISTER CITIES

Rain Caused General Omission of Events

EXERCISES AT MANITOU

Postmaster Grafton Made the Address and Vocal Selections Were Included in the Program

The Memorial day services in Manitou and Colorado City were interfered with considerably, although in the former place a large number assembled in the school house to hear the address and program. Postmaster H. H. Grafton, who has spoken at the memorial services in Manitou for the past 12 years, was the speaker of the day. It was hoped and expected that Captain Coghlan would also be a speaker on this occasion and his assignment to duty and subsequent departure was greatly regretted by the residents of Manitou. Mr. Grafton made an excellent address and made numerous references to the soldier dead which called forth hearty applause. The program consisted of vocal solos by Mrs. Hicks and Miss Lillian Davis and recitations by Misses Agnes Davis and Helen Barton. The entire audience then sang America, after which a number took flowers to the cemetery and placed them on the graves of the dead soldier boys.

In Colorado City no attempt was made at holding memorial services. No exercises had been planned other than the trip to the cemetery which was to have been made by old soldiers of this city and Colorado Springs. Owing to the heavy rains, however, the road to the cemetery was little less than impassable and the idea of a procession was given up. There are about a dozen old soldiers buried in Fairview cemetery and their graves were not forgotten. In the morning the Colorado City veterans went to Colorado Springs and assisted in the ceremonies at Evergreen cemetery held by Post No. 22.

THE CHURCH AND HER PEOPLE

Different Phases of Church Work Discussed Last Night by Congregationalists.

Dreary weather did not lessen the interest in yesterday's session of the Twentieth annual convention of the Arkansas Valley association of Congregational churches. The program for the day was carried out in full and there was a good attendance at both the afternoon and evening sessions.

At the business meeting in the morning President Slocum of Colorado college and Rev. M. D. Ormes were chosen delegates to the Triennial council of Congregational churches, which is to be held in Portland, Maine, next year. Rev. G. W. Ray and Dr. J. B. Gregg were elected alternates.

Prior to the evening session the members of the Second church gave a supper to the delegates in the parlors of the church.

Interesting addresses were made in the evening by Rev. F. T. Hays and Dr. Slocum. Mr. Hayes' subject was "Things as Churches We Do That We Ought Not to Do." He said that churches should not forget that they are stewards of their own property. He also pointed out the fact that prayer is not made proper use of and that congregations are prone to leave all the work to the minister.

Dr. Slocum's subject was "Things as Churches We Leave Undone That We Ought to Do." He called attention to the value of the morning service, which is usually the best attended in all churches, and said that this service should be made the most of. He said there should be greater reverence in the morning services and urged that more emphasis should be given to the study of the Bible in the Sunday schools. The Bible should be studied rather than the lesson helps. He closed by expressing his profound belief in the great work churches are doing.

An event of the day in the convention was the election of Rev. Mr. Rudolph, a former Presbyterian, to membership in the association. About ten years ago Mr. Rudolph preached a sermon espousing the cause of "conditional immortality." He was criticised by Presbyterians in Colorado for the view he took. Mr. Rudolph is now chaplain of the state reformatory.

The convention will adjourn about noon today. The program yesterday morning and afternoon was as follows:

9:45 a. m.—The Church and the Home.
1. Religious Literature in the Home, Rev. Wm. F. Tatchell.
2. The Preacher as the Harvester, Rev. G. W. Ray.
10:40—The Church and the World.
1. How to Develop the Missionary Spirit in the Church, Rev. G. W. Gammon.
How to Develop a Working Church, Rev. F. W. Cunyon.
11:50—Spiritual Power in a Church, Rev. Walter C. Veazie.
2:30 p. m.—Woman's missionary meetings.
4:15—How to Develop the Social Spirit in the Church, Rev. C. H. Harper.

PRECIPITATION

OTHERWISE KNOWN AS RAIN CAME DOWN.

Thirty Seven Hundredths of an Inch and What it Did to the Sports

All reports agree that yesterday was an ideal day.

In Denver.

No less harmonious with itself was the public on the proposition that yesterday was an ideal day in Colorado Springs.

For Ducks.

As a matter of fact, irrelevant considerations and circumstances being thrown aside, it was an elegant day in a good many respects, but

The people didn't care for it.

Colorado Springs is such a cosmopolitan community that it is not often that all the people agree on any one proposition. There is hardly ever a time when all the people can be brought to view any one subject in the same light. It frequently happens that what is pleasing to one man is very displeasing indeed to his next door neighbor and it has been known to happen that the manner of spending the day which was planned by some prominent citizen was not the manner that would have been approved had the plans been submitted to his wife.

As a matter of fact, a forecast of yesterday could not fail to reveal an alarming state of affairs.

But the weather man fixed it all up. He brought public opinion to a focus at 9 o'clock in the morning and it never wavered. He was the all star, side-splitting, rollicking, trickling hippodrome, three ring attraction from the firing of the first gun and there wasn't a minute when anyone else wasn't distanced when it came to being talked about. But—

It would have been an awful thing to have been the weather man and to have had ears.

It was too wet to do anything that people wanted to do. There were large bunches of people of sporting inclinations who came here from neighboring cities to get a touch of real Italian climate. They came for widely diverging purposes—but—they all did the same thing before they had been here long—stood on the corners or in any other shelter they could find and cussed the weather.

It is said that a girl stood for two hours on the corner of Pike's Peak avenue and Tejon street making goo-goo eyes at the fellows who floated that way and everyone felt sorry for her thinking that she was crying.

Fans wanted to see a ball game or two but the players didn't want to play and instead they occupied two tiers of seats in front of the [illegible] hotel and joined in the refrain while Tim Donahue sang in French the touching adaptation of Longfellow's lines:

How beautiful is the rain
After the dust and heat
In the broad and fiery street
In the narrow lane
How beautiful is the rain
Ref.
How it clatters along the roofs,
Like the tramp of hoofs
How it gushes and struggles out
From the throat of the overflowing spout

Then grand Chorus (fortissimo): WE NEED THE MONEY.

If today is of such character as to make the repeating of the performance appropriate it is to be given in the Opera house and race meet tickets will be honored.

If it isn't then let all who didn't like the weather yesterday go to the ball game.

Not Preachers But Grocers

We are not PREACHERS but GROCERS

THERE are other men of more ability in that line than we can boast of who do the preaching. Our business is to sell GROCERIES. On the subject of Groceries, however, we could preach you a pretty good sermon. One reason for this is that the kind of Groceries we sell will bear preaching about. But we are not going to sermonize. We just want to talk plain, hard business. In this connection we'll say that we are in a position to serve you exceptionally well in the matter of Groceries, as our years of experience have given us advantage over competitors in the matter of buying and the firm that buys best can always sell best. We have been thus enabled to make lower prices than others for the same quality of goods and the only quality we handle is the VERY BEST. Would be pleased to have a personal interview with YOU.

BIG DEAL PENDING

Involving Large Number of Lode Claims in Boulder County---Other News Items Relating to Boulder-County Mining.

(Special Correspondence.)

Denver, May 30.—There is a big mining deal being consummated whereby a large number of lode claims will be transferred by individual owners to an organization of capitalists from Boston, Connecticut and New York. The papers are being made out to complete the deal together with reports, maps and other statements necessary to complete the transfer and give a full description of the property, which is located in Boulder county and is a good record. In a few days publicity will be given to the deal and the amount of money invested in the transaction.

John Teagarden was in the city yesterday on business connected with his mines at Wall street, and the deposit of a gold brick at the mint. He remarked to your correspondent that the newspaper accounts published in Boulder and Denver were exceedingly original and highly amusing to him. The writers were wonderfully vivid in imagination and seemed to know much more about the Wood Tunnel Mining and Milling company's business than he did. He scarcely deemed it necessary to visit Boulder [illegible] more because the [illegible] press [illegible] formed regarding the intentions of the company and his personal plans for further development of the property. Therefore it seems a [illegible] to pay a superintendent to transact the business of the company when the papers are giving wonderful accounts of the company's plans for the future.

There is nothing in the statements made in the Denver papers which gives it out cold that a new 100 ton mill will be built by the Wood Mountain Mining company. Mr. Norlin, the president, stated that he knew nothing of such an enterprise but would most assuredly have been a party to such big improvements if they were in embryo. Partial arrangements have been entered into between the Wall Street Gold Extraction company and the Wood Mountain party to treat a certain amount of ore daily when the electro cyanidation mill is ready to run.

Parties returning from Ward [illegible] looking over the mills and sale titles of that rapidly growing camp informed your correspondent that they were much pleased with the outlook for a prosperous camp and progressive mining. In speaking of the extensive tunnel system of mining that is being carried on in and around Ward and the going into those big hills in the mountains to examine the property, they were very enthusiastic and spoke in unlimited praise of the rich lodes exposed in them and the brilliant future for some of those interested in the properties. They spoke particularly of the Levitation group of [illegible] which they considered had all the characteristics of a valuable proposition.

Nature has given every advantage for tunnel mining, the network of mineral veins traversing the mountain and the systematic manner in which the management has commenced operations made a very favorable impression on those owning stock in the company.

At the Big Five property they found a huge bore three fourth of a mile long and at the end of the tunnel an immense body of ore that was a big surprise to them. They were intensely interested in watching the miners and machines at work breaking out the ore from the vein and loading it in the tram cars for delivery at the company's mill. A mine is a new and unknown world to them, full of wonderful sights and glittering realities.

It was an experience full of thrilling incidents and fascinating adventure which will mark a very pleasant chapter in their life's history.

The Wellington Mining company is pushing its development work successfully through the sterling efforts of its manager, W. W. Degge, who reports a two years working capital in the treasury for the same. Machine drills are to be used in the near future for development purposes and to carry on mining on a more extensive scale. The company will hold its postponed meeting in the near future, subject to call of the [illegible] Judge House [illegible], when it is expected that more active operations in development will be inaugurated and a large force of miners employed.

The Bertha Gold Mining and Milling company informs me through its manager that a contract has been let for cutting a double station on one of its veins encountered in the Newhouse tunnel. Work on the station will commence at once, when the vein will be thoroughly developed from this point. Two building lots have been purchased by the company adjoining the mill with the intention of enlarging its capacity in the near future. Shipments are being made regularly from the [illegible] to the company's mill, where 10 stamps are now being used on its own ore.

The Sunshine mine at Salina will be operated again this summer with considerable vim. This property, like many other of the older ones, has been worked by many different lessees with varied success and failure.

Some years ago when the mine was in good ore and everything looked promising for a boom an English party took a lease and bond on it and after working it placed it on the London market for sale. This was just before the great financial crash of the Baring Brothers which almost swamped the banks of the world in its extensive business enterprises, and of course every English project offered at that time was rejected for want of money to pay for it. Since then several parties have done some work on it and taken out very good ore but not in sufficient quantities to make it a paying investment. With the present method of mining and treating the ores much more cheaply, the property should prove a good business investment for the present owners.

OLD GRIZZLY STARTS IN DEADWOOD

(Special Correspondence.)

Hill City, S. D., May [illegible].—The starting up of the old Grizzly Bear mine southeast of this city is looked upon as one of the most important events in the southern hills for some time. The mine has produced thousands of dollars worth of ore and with proper development work and management it can no doubt be made one of the best payers in the Hills. The mine is on the same ore lode as the Clara Bell and the St. Elmo mines, which are farther south. There is a 10 stamp mill at the Grizzly Bear mine which will be repaired immediately. A drift has been started in the old workings and it is stated that some very rich ore has been encountered. Two Denver men have associated themselves with Pennsylvania people. The Grizzly Bear mine is about one and a half miles northeast of the St. Elmo mine.

The St. Elmo company will without doubt start up work at the St. Elmo mine this summer, now that the difficulties have been settled between the Marsh estate and the Black Hills owners. The Clara Bell mine has a shaft sunk on it that was worked at first in the St. Elmo. Recently a rich shoot of ore was encountered below the upper Clara Bell shoot and this extends back into the St. Elmo mine. It is a very rich ore and the St. Elmo company will have pretty near the same thing when it starts to find the ore body. There is a 10 stamp mill at the mine ready for immediate work. The annual meeting of the company occurs June 4 and at that time it is expected that a certain amount of stock will be sold for development purposes. There is now harmony between the Black Hills owners and the Marsh estate, which means that a united effort will be made to make the St. Elmo mine a producer.

The best of reports come from the Geiler Mining company of Illinois, which is developing the old Lark mine north of this city. It is hoped that the main shaft will be down to the 400 foot level some time in July. The ledge was started out so very rich [illegible] is holding its own. It is not what is generally termed a pockety mine but instead the free gold is well distributed throughout the vein matter. The crosscuts that have been run out from the main shaft show other strong ledges that carry values in gold. There is practically no further doubt as to the permanency of the Copper vein proper and it is generally expected that the several ledges will come together with depth forming one large body of ore.

It has been announced that J. B. Safford of Chicago, who has bonded the Golden Slipper mine east of this city, is much pleased with the property after sampling it out and making an examination of the ore reserves. It is stated that the bond will be taken up. Safford has bargained for the Ingram custom stamp mill at Keystone, which will be moved near to the Golden Slipper mine in case it is purchased. The old Sunnyside mine will probably be worked again this season. The mine is a wet one but with increased pump capacity it can be worked. There is a very rich ledge of free milling ore which has been followed down to considerable depth.

STATE MINING NEWS.

LEADVILLE

Messrs. Douglas and Frimire, owners of the thrifty A. Y. and Minnie lease, will now try their luck in the gold belt and search for the Big Four, Little Jonny, New Monarch, Fanny Rawlings or any other bonanza ore shoot in the Louise ground. A new shaft will be sunk and a plant of machinery installed capable of pulling riches from a depth of 700 feet. The project is held in high esteem by the knowing ones.

A party of miners with the habit of [illegible] an important development on the 300 foot level of the Silent Friend mine on Little Ellen hill. A three foot streak of $40 siliceous gold ore is now being prospected and the lessees Dan Lynch, James Harrington and others are quite exultant over the showing for the making of a mine. Mr. Sol Weil, a well known character, who early exploited the hill on an energetic scale with disastrous results, formerly owned the property.

Steady developments being pushed along the fissure as well as results being roasted out of samples thrust into the assayers furnace reveal more than the most enthusiastic person had claimed for the new discovery recently made at the Bwolgoche mine on Middle mountain across the valley. In the tunnel at a point 530 feet from daylight and at a vertical depth of 260 feet a crosscut encountered the vein so productive in years gone by in the upper tunnels. In drifting with the wide fissure a fine ore body of tremendous strength is steadily being penetrated.

Assays from the rich shoot average from $10 to $60 in a trinity of values while some samples across the large deposit average $48. It is believed the ores as broken down will be sold on controls netting $40 per ton. The outlook for this youngster is full of promise as it has been demonstrated that the ore goes down and improves with depth. The development discloses that it is a porphyry vein with distinct granite walls and the possibilities in drifting and sinking on the vein are enormous. Experts have contended that this section was only an assay country and that the veins did not go down, so this find will disprove such a theory and emphasize the importance of the future of the entire Red Mountain district. Manager Vivian is quite exultant over the important discovery, as the people financing the property were on the eve of closing down.

The big vein carrying several feet of riches in the New Monarch group on the Little Ellen hill side of the gold belt, in addition to making a daily yield of 75 tons of $30 ores, is constantly responding to the heavy development by opening more ore in the stopes as well as revealing ore in the drifts with no top, sides or bottom. The most important new disclosure made upon the strong ore channel is the striking of sulphides in sinking the New Monarch shaft at the 600 foot point, a distance of 1,000 feet east from the original discovery made in the Winnie shaft 15 months ago. This new strike is doubtless the most important in the chapter of strikes now being made, as it proves that the sulphide ore channels go down on Little Ellen hill and will probably rival in importance its thrifty neighbor, Breece hill, or even Iron or Carbonate hill. Manager Tim Goodwin has worked this proposition from the time it was a struggling prospect until today it is based on proprietary of 100 acres and the ores from its properties have afforded the means to buy this valuable land. The tenderfoot will doubtless characterize this great success as luck, but a miner would credit it as an example of rare mining knowledge and business judgment.—(Miner.

SAN JUAN DISTRICT.

The Blaine Mining and Milling company of Toronto, Ont., is working a large force on its group in the Sneffels district and now is in the tunnel 700 feet. The air drills are making eight feet per day and this week struck a body of gray rock which is mixed with silver. The ore bins are being filled for shipment and by the middle of May [illegible] will go forward. The 15 mile road to Ridgway has been placed in good condition for the track teams. Before the [illegible] of 1893 a number of cars of high grade ore were shipped from this group.

A new district has sprung up in the vicinity of [illegible] Creek, a few miles north of here. Harry Scott, representing Cripple Creek parties, has been on the ground during the past week and will soon start work on a claim in this district. Fred [illegible] of Ouray has also started work on one of several claims owned by him besides making leases on other mines. The assays made recently from this locality show mineral well worth working out.—(Ouray Herald.

At the Utility tunnel opening of the great Silver Lake mines 150 men are working and the force is being increased right along. Eighty to ninety tons of ore [illegible] through the tunnel daily and is transported over the tramline to the new mill on Animas river. The underground tramming is done by [illegible] power eight cars [illegible]. The tunnel to the right goes deep under the Nevada and the left enters Rochester. While [illegible] the entire Silver Lake group [illegible] past workings of the Silver Lake proper. The ore bodies in sight are said to be inexhaustible and represent millions of dollars. The buildings at the Utility are all connected under the roof and occupy a space of 50 feet long by 100 feet wide and are divided into the following departments: boarding and lodging house, wash room, [illegible], crushing room, blacksmith shop, etc. John Daily, who worked a long time on the Silver Lake, is shift boss for men at the tunnel. As the ores upon being [illegible] from the mine contain but a small quantity of [illegible], therefore but a small force of [illegible] are required. Fred B. Allen is in charge of the [illegible] house.—(Silverton Standard.

CLEAR CREEK COUNTY

Manager Shiller of the Burns-Moore Tunnel company is here for the summer and has opened up an office in the Hall block. He will put in a plant of machinery and expects to have the tunnel under way within the next thirty days. The tunnel is projected to cut the mineral belt lying to the north of Chicago creek and in the Ute creek section.

Dickson [illegible], operating the Cumberland on Yankee hill, have made a strike of four feet of ore worth $50 per ton on an average. A four to eight inch streak runs as high as $140 per ton. The hanging wall has not yet been reached.

A. Brostrom has started work upon his Chicago creek group and is said to be backed by large capital. It will be remembered that Mr. Brostrom last year put in a mill for the treatment of his ore and that he had some very nice returns before the character of the ore changed with development. It was then decided that a change of process was necessary and the advisability of putting in a cyanide plant was discussed. This may yet be necessary as depth shows a decided change in the character of the ore and somewhat upon the Cripple Creek order. The property operated is composed of several veins and the values range entirely in gold, principally low grade. The mill is run by a fine water power and the venture should prove a success.

Mattern and company are making a success of the Lafayette mine, producing ore that mills well in gold and silver.

The Centennial mine is being prepared for active development work by Colonel Evans. The work of retimbering the shaft is nearing completion.

According to the Courier the old Comet mine has started up again, the present operators being Shaver and company. The Comet is located at the top of Griffith mountain and is one of the strongest veins in the county.—(Mining Gazette.

MINING NOTES AROUND TOWN

There was no call held on the local mining stock exchange owing to its being a legal holiday, nor was there any curb trading to amount to anything, although there was some interest still taken in one or two of the more active stocks and a few trades in Eclipse at about 1¼ were heard of during the day. The fact that all sales were called off on account of the weather kept a few of the mining men down town and another active market was predicted for today. The strength which began to appear in the lists early in the week has aroused much interest in the action which the market will now take and the general opinion seems to be that it will continue to advance as the influx of buying orders is greater than it has been in many weeks.

GOLD BOND LESSEES MAKE A GOOD SHIPMENT

Hemminger and associates, who are leasing a portion of the Gold Bond company's property on Gold Hill, have just marketed a shipment of 30 tons from the 200 foot level. They expect the ore to run about $40 in gold to the ton. They have very good indications that the shoot will yield a good amount of this grade. The company has started drifting from the 200 foot level and has good prospects ahead. The stock has been stronger during the past day [illegible].

RETURNS RECEIVED FROM A LEXINGTON SHIPMENT

The Lexington company has just received returns from 13 tons of ore sent out from the Jeff Davis claim under lease to Dr. Whiting and associates and show that the ore averages $50 in gold to the ton. By sorting the ore it would be possible to get higher values but there are no facilities at the mine which make sorting convenient, so the bulk ore is marketed. On the main workings the lessees are shipping regularly.

CROSS VEINS CUT IN THE TRIUMPH FRACTION

In drifting in the 400 foot level in the Triumph mine on Battle mountain two veins were recently encountered, one of them averaging about two feet in width and carrying a streak of ore which is worth between $60 and $80 in gold to the ton for the screenings and $[illegible] for the coarse rock. The mine is shipping regularly and the discovery of ore in the bottom level will mean a new block of stoping ground. Returns just received on 2[illegible] tons show values of $40 in gold. The fraction is situated between the Ajax and Coriolanus.

ECLIPSE ORE IS ON EXHIBITION

In one of Tucker, Ballard and company's windows yesterday there was a specimen of the rich ore from the Eclipse mine and in the offices there are a variety of the samples including the pure talc. The specimen in the window is that of the very rich stuff which is being deposited in the ore bins of the First National bank in Cripple Creek. It is not this rich ore however which makes the recent improvement in the Eclipse so important. A strong shoot which has been developed 60 feet on the third level, and almost as far on the fourth, with a prospect of its extending to the surface, is of greater importance than streaks of $8 a pound ore.

MONTGOMERY STARTS WORK ON KEYSTONE

Crosscutting has been started in the Keystone property by W. S. Montgomery and associates, who were recently granted a lease on a portion of the ground. The work is being done toward the south in the 235 foot level in the hopes of opening the old south shoot which was productive in the early days of the mine but which pinched out. A considerable amount of mystery surrounds the course of this shoot, both the Keystone and the Cripple Creek Consolidated companies having spent a great deal of time in searching for it. Mr. Montgomery thinks he has a clew.

MILLIONAIRES AT THE BAT

The Batting Average of the Team for the Season is 278 — Arthur Leads

It takes batters to win baseball games Perfect fielding will not win runs though it may keep others from doing so A team that can hit the ball will win more games than the team that plays a fast fielding game This has been demonstrated several times in the Western league this season The following table shows the batting strength of the Colorado Springs Millionaires for the season so far as it has progressed

	Games	At Bat	Hits	P C
Arthur	[illegible]	[illegible]	10	[illegible]
Hemphill	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]
McHale	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hulen	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Schaefer	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Gaston	14		14	[illegible]
Donahue	1	50	15	[illegible]
O'Connell	14	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Law	1[illegible]	4	33	[illegible]
Beam	[illegible]	10		[illegible]
Shay	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Holy	[illegible]	6	16	[illegible]
Whitridge	10	[illegible]	6	188
Totals		31	[illegible]	[illegible]

This table shows that we have three men who bat above 300 per cent a very good average and considering that all but two or three do as good as 200 per cent with the stick or better than that the team does not show up so poorly Hemphill McHale Hulen and Schaefer have done good work with the stick while Holy with his numerous sacrifices ranks next to last Whitridge brings up the tail end This is not so bad as a pitcher is not expected to do much hitting If Whitridge reaches the 200 point or does not [illegible] than 1[illegible] he will still be doing as much as a pitcher is expected to do Six of the present team are below the 200 mark The trouble with the team seems to have been the inability to get the hits in at the right time With a team batting 278 per cent and doing such fielding work as the Colorado Springs team can do there should be no excuse for the loss of more games than are won The team has done better on the trip than it did at home and the backers of the team have reason to expect that better work will be done and more games won from now on

AROUND THE BASES

The boys arrived home yesterday morning Nearly all the old favorites are here Jack O'Connell and Cy Swain being missing as was predicted Shaefer and Holly and Gaston and Whit and Beam and McHale and Hemphill and Tim and Law and the others are all here But Handsome Jack is missing The reports were true He has been released to Des Moines Some said it rained yesterday just to get to the team for releasing Jack Donahue and Hulen told the fans yesterday how it came out that Jack was released and while their arguments sounded good the fans are [illegible] Jack's departure We shall all go out today if the weather will let us and root for the other boys but we shall miss the old [illegible] who played first and second with us Donahue says it was a case of O'Connell or Law and Law was hitting better than Jack and they let Jack go We were not out there and could not see for ourselves so we will take his word for it We like Law all right and don't want to see him shipped but we still have a soft spot in our heart for Jack.

Was there a full looked more like a mud lake than a ball park yesterday afternoon That coat of loam that was put on spoils the diamond for rain weather In its old condition the park would be in good shape to play on an hour after the storm But it was claimed that the sandy surface was too hard on the balls and tore them too quickly

Colorado college plays her last ball game tomorrow The strong School of Mines team comes down to try to wrest the pennant away from the Tigers but the latter are not going to give it up without a hard struggle The Tigers have improved greatly under the coaching of Mr J B Stewart and Griffith and the students are looking with some foundation that the team will win out If they do after the slump they took a few weeks ago the college will have a celebration coming

Kansas City took two from St Joe yesterday and gave herself an additional hold on first place The Blues are winning too many games It was expected that St Joe would break even with them yesterday but it wasn't so July and August will be the months that will tell the story and by that time Colorado Springs ought to be up in Kansas City's class

New York broke the attendance record yesterday afternoon when 2[illegible] people turned out at the Polo grounds Mathewson's work is largely responsible for the popularity of the Giants in their home city this year But Mathewson got touched up for four hits in three innings yesterday

The Chicago Boston American league game at Chicago broke the attendance record for that city The game is very popular this season more so than for many seasons past The American league is responsible for the unusual interest

Shay the new shortstop of the Millionaires likes Colorado Springs pretty well It is a much better place than I expected to find he said to the Gazette sporting man yesterday It is quite up to date as far as I have been able to see and it is a very pretty place too

Minneapolis and St Paul broke even yesterday and Des Moines and Omaha did not better themselves either Kansas City took a bigger lead and showed St Joe a few per cent down the line

The Elks are getting enthused over baseball A team is to be formed to accept a challenge which has come down from the Denver lodge

The Little Lillies and the East Hill sides were not affected by the weather yesterday but played on the slopes of the hillside on the east where the water stays not neither does it linger ~~The Little Lillies~~ again defeated the east siders the score being 8 to 4 Last Saturday the same teams played and the Little Lillies won by a score of 33 to 3 That was a bum game said the captain of the Little Lillies to the sporting man of the Gazette yesterday but today we played a fine game The Little Lillies play the West Side Seventh street nine tomorrow

FOR GLOCKNER

RAILWAY MEN WILL PLAY BALL SUNDAY

Exciting Game Between Rival Railway Nines to Take Place at Woodland Park

There will be a great game of baseball at Woodland Park on Sunday June 2

Two teams representing the D and R G and C R I and P railways and the C and S Santa Fe and Colorado Midland railways will struggle for the supremacy Mr Roberts is captain of the Rio Grande aggregation and the opponents will be captained by Mr Crosson The colors of the former will be pink and green and the latter will play under the yellow and blue

It is fully expected that the game between these rival nines of railway men will put into the shade the recent great controversy in Wall street between Hill and Harriman for the control of the Northern Pacific All the fine points of the game will be brought out and both sides claim that all the goose eggs will be in the error column while the run column of each team will reach double figures even though it does not go so high as Northern Pacific

The game is for the benefit of Glockner sanitarium which will receive the net proceeds The train will leave Colorado Springs at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon via the Colorado Midland Fare for the round trip has been placed at [illegible]0 cents and a charge of 25 cents for admission to the grounds including grand stand seats will be charged

CRICKET MATCH DID NOT OCCUR

The cricket match that was to have taken place yesterday afternoon at Broadmoor between teams representing Colorado Springs and Denver did not occur owing to the unfavorable character of the weather

Some practice was indulged in by members of both teams but no match occurred Colorado Springs will go to Denver in about three weeks to play a game and Denver will come to Colorado Springs on July 4

TWO RECORDS BROKEN

New York May 30—On its field at Bergen Point the Knickerbocker Athletic club today held its annual sports A big field of sturdy young athletes competed and every event was spiritedly contested Two established records were broken Ray C Ewry of the New York Athletic club went 24 feet 9½ inches in three standing jumps which carried him 1½ inches over the record and L De B Handley of the Knickerbocker Athletic club finished the Medley race in 16 minutes and 2[illegible] seconds beating the 18 minutes flat of E Savage an Englishman

FIELD DAY

SPRINGS MEN GOT THREE PRIZES AT D A C MEET.

Relay Team Did Not Contest Owing to Hobbs Illness—Denver Men Took Honors

Special to the Gazette

Denver May 30 The annual field day of the Denver Athletic club was held at the D A C park this afternoon The day was an ideal one in every respect The meet was a great success and every event was well contested The last event the High school relay race was somewhat of a disappointment owing to the fact that only two teams took part The Colorado Springs High school team was compelled to withdraw because Hobbs one of their best men was taken sick and they were unable to fill his place The East Denver High school captured the cup winning hands down from the Manual Training High school

Emmet F Annis for the D A C and A E Gracher for the East Denver Turners captured the honors of the day The men from the Springs were outclassed and only succeeded in landing one first and two seconds The one mile race was won by Sill of Colorado Springs High school Miller of the D A C led until the last lap when Sill closed in and won in a fast sprint In the 1[illegible] yard hurdle H Van Fleet won with J Carruthers of the Springs second In the 220 yard dash Annis of the D A C took first place and Torrence of Colorado Springs second Those who took part from the Springs were Carruthers Riddle Hobbs Terrill Torrence and Sill The following is the list of events and winners

GREAT WORK AT THE TRAPS

Visitors and Locals Alike Did Fine Shooting---Pickett's Great Run---Took Shemwell Trophy.

The gun club was the only organization whose program for yesterday was not broken up by the rain. The big one day tournament was pulled off successfully and some of the best scores ever made in a state shoot were made yesterday. Although the rain was heavy there was at no time any wind so that the targets were shot fairly accurately. The attendance was fair, there being several shots up from Pueblo and Florence and quite a squad from Denver. The club shoot for the Strang trophy was omitted.

Pickett was the bright particular star of the day, making two long runs, one of [illegible] straight and the other of [illegible] straight. Shemwell made a run of 108 straight. Pickett took the high average with Garrett second. Pickett's work was really phenomenal. Out of the first [illegible] birds he missed just five and out of the [illegible] birds in the Shemwell trophy shoot he missed one, making a total of six misses out of [illegible] birds.

Another fine piece of shooting was done by the squad composed of Garrett, Shemwell, Lawton, Heirgood and Bennett. These five gentlemen were in one squad and made a break of [illegible] birds out of [illegible]. The record for squad shooting is [illegible] out of [illegible] and this was ... recently in the east.

The Shemwell trophy went to Denver in Mr. Pickett's care. It is a handsome silver cup offered by Mr. W. W. Shemwell of this city for competition on the same terms as the Spalding medal, which means that it is open to competition at any time. The first shoot for it was held yesterday. Mr. A. J. Lawton has challenged Mr. Pickett for a shoot for the cup and Mr. Garrett has challenged Mr. Daniels of Denver for a shoot for the Spalding medal. Both shoots will probably be held in the near future.

In the shoot for the individual championship A. L. Bennett of Pueblo, who held it before, still retains it, as his opponent Mr. Heirgood of Pueblo fell short one bird. They each shot at 50 birds, Bennett breaking 48 and Heirgood [illegible].

Below is given a table of scores, averages, etc., for the day's shoot. The scores are remarkably high, being the best ever made at a shoot in this state. Pickett of Denver, Garrett of this city, Daniels of Denver, George Delbert of ... and ... Brinkman of Denver made the five high averages and several others fell only a bird or so behind them. Following are the detailed scores:

The Difference in the FUEL

Coal and wood are wasteful fuels and the litter they make is doubly troublesome in hot weather. Get a Wickless Blue Flame Oil Stove and your fuel will be the same you use in your lamps. It will cost one half cent an hour and you will burn every cent's worth you pay for instead of throwing a third away in ashes.

WICKLESS
Blue Flame Oil Stoves

are as safe as coal stoves and they are cooler, cleaner, more convenient and more economical. Made in many sizes. Sold everywhere. If your dealer does not have them write to the nearest agency of

CONTINENTAL OIL COMPANY.

LEGAL NOTICES

Colorado Springs, Colo., April 27, 1901.

To the Stockholders of The Good Will Tunnel and Mining Company:

You are hereby notified that a special meeting of the stockholders of The Good Will Tunnel and Mining Company will be held at the office of the said company at No. 23 North Tejon street, in the city of Colorado Springs, Colorado, on Saturday, the first day of June, A. D. 1901, at twelve (12) o'clock noon, for the purpose of considering and if deemed proper ratifying a certain agreement entered into between this company and William F. Humphreys for the consolidation of the property of this company with other adjacent properties, and to that end for the transfer of this company's property to a new corporation to be formed for the purpose of acquiring the said properties, and the property of this company in exchange for a certain amount of the stock of the said new company, and for the transaction of such other and further business as may properly come before the meeting.

The transfer books will be closed at twelve (12) o'clock noon on May 23, 1901, and will reopen three (3) days after the final adjournment of the meeting.

William J. Bonbright, Vice President.

(Signed) W. W. Postlethwaite.
(Signed) Clark Mellen.

Stockholders owning more than 10 per cent of the entire capital stock issued and outstanding.

NOTICE

THE COLORADO FUEL AND IRON COMPANY.

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of the stockholders of The Colorado Fuel and Iron company will be held on the [illegible] day of July, 1901, at [illegible] o'clock in the forenoon at the general office of the company, [illegible] block, corner of Seventeenth and Champa streets, in the City of Denver, in the State of Colorado.

For the purpose of submitting to the stockholders the question of an increase of the capital stock of the company to forty million dollars ($40,[illegible]), consisting of four hundred thousand shares of one hundred dollars ($100) each, such stock to be non-assessable, and the question of authorizing the board of directors of said company to issue from time to time fifteen million dollars ($15,000,000) of five per cent ten year convertible gold debentures of the kind hereinafter described, and of ratifying all of the actions of the board of directors and of the president with reference to the issue and sale of such debentures.

[illegible] the purpose of considering a proposed amendment to the articles of incorporation of such company authorizing the directors to issue from time to time fifteen million dollars ($15,000,000) of five per cent ten year convertible gold debentures of the company of one thousand dollars ($1,000) each, each convertible at the option of the holder thereof into the common stock of the company at par (interest and dividends to be adjusted) on or at any time after February 1, 19[illegible], until and including August 1, 19[illegible], and redeemable at the option of the company at a premium of five per cent on any interest day after August 1, 19[illegible], such debentures to bear interest at the rate of five per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and to mature August 1, 1911, and providing for the increase of the capital stock to forty million dollars ($40,000,000), such capital stock to be non-assessable, of which one hundred and fifty thousand additional shares of common capital stock of one hundred dollars ($100) each are to remain in the treasury of the company to be issued only in exchange for the aforementioned ten year convertible gold debentures at the option of the holders thereof respectively until and including August 1, 19[illegible], after which any of said one hundred and fifty thousand shares of common stock which shall then be unissued may be issued and disposed of for value received as the board of directors may provide.

And providing for the disposition of the proceeds of said debentures and limiting, so long as any of said debentures are outstanding, the power of the company to place mortgages and other incumbrances upon the property of the company, or to authorize or issue other debentures or bonds except those provided for in the mortgages or deeds of trust outstanding July 1, 1901, or to issue any notes or create any indebtedness for any other purpose than the ordinary running expenses of the company, and providing that meetings of the board of directors may be held beyond the limits of the State of Colorado.

Or any other amendments the substance of which shall be that the capital stock be increased to forty million dollars ($40,000,000) and that the directors be authorized to issue fifteen million dollars ($15,000,000) five per cent convertible gold debentures convertible into common stock.

Dated May 25, 1901.

By order of the board of directors.
J. C. Osgood,
President of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company.
S. I. Heyn, Assistant Secretary.

THE VICTORIA MINES COMPANY.

Colorado Springs, Colo., May 2[illegible], 1901.

Notice is hereby given to the present holders of the stock of The Victoria Mines company, originally represented by stock certificates of the said company numbered from one (1) to fifty (50) inclusive, and aggregating two hundred and fifty thousand (250,000) shares, that a meeting of the present holders of the said stock will be held at the office of J. C. Carlos Robles, Plaza Major, in the city of Guanajuato, Mex., on the [illegible] day of July, in the year 1901, at 3:30 in the afternoon, for the purpose of considering and passing upon the accounts of the said company with reference to the expenditure by it of the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) gold, or its equivalent in Mexican money, including in said sum the expenses contracted in securing for said company a legal existence in the Republic of Mexico, the sum expended since that day upon which the mine was delivered to Mr. Peck, and those which have been spent by the company for machinery, works undertaken for the opening of a shaft and preliminary and accessory work for the exploitation of the grounds of the mines of La Victoria and the extension of the La Victoria, transferred to the said company by the agreement of transfer executed at Guanajuato City, state of Guanajuato, Mexican Republic, the 27th day of July, 1900, before the notary public, Luis G. Lopez, and including also the sum spent in American and Mexican stamps for the two hundred and fifty thousand (250,000) shares delivered to the vendors of the said property, and the expenses of originals, copies and registering the said agreement of transfer.

Notice is also given that proofs will be offered to the said stockholders at the said meeting by the said Victoria Mines company that the full sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) gold or its equivalent in Mexican money has now been expended by the said company for the purposes above stated and in strict conformity with the second clause of the said agreement of transfer executed as above stated on the 27th day of July, 1900, before the notary public, Luis G. Lopez, and action will be taken at the said meeting by the said stockholders with respect to approving and accepting the proofs of such expenditures made by the said company at said meeting.

James F. Burns, President,
The Victoria Mines Company.

BUY THE GENUINE

SYRUP OF FIGS

MANUFACTURED BY

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

NOTE THE NAME.

LA GRECQUE CORSETS

There is a universal demand today for a more perfect form and carriage than has been the habit in the past—Beauty is a woman's legitimate birthright. Its ideals in all nations and all generations have inclined toward the slender waist. The Grecian beauty adopted the girdle, the modern Venus tightens her corset. This desire has been accomplished, but without regard to the rest of the anatomy. The graceful figure must have a firm and clearly defined waist line. Having established this waist line the designer must have full knowledge of the woman's anatomy to complete the correct curves of the form which must slope gradually from back to front parallel with the collar line. Hence a graceful and easy carriage. For many months Giddings have been looking for a corset that will insure ease and comfort as well as grace to the wearer, a corset that will support the bust and abdomen in a natural position without confining them. The La Grecque (La Greek) has landed us safely and we can guarantee comfort and a truly graceful bearing.

Styles [illegible] 53 54 [illegible] also pattern after this.

All are low cut and full around the top with the waist line running low down the front. A circular belt around the bottom sets snugly over the hips giving that long straight front effect so much desired and its the ideal corset for comfort.

La Grecque Lattice for Summer Wear

These lattice ribbon corsets are invented to use lighter weight material in the bodies. The ribbons give them strength and prevent stretching out of shape. They fit close to the form giving support and assist in developing the stately figure.

Sweeping Reductions in the Suit Room

Inspection of the most critical kind on your part will fail to disclose any reason why these garments should be reduced at this time of the season. However it is no secret. Our shelves must be entirely empty for next season's arrivals. Catch the idea?
